MAYOR SEEKS REVERSAL OF STATE'S STAND

Asserts Refusal of Aid For Project Won't Be Taken 'As Matter of Fact.'

CITES PROJECT AT LORAIN

Points Out State Offered $100,000 for Project There Within City.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter today opened a fight to obtain from the state highway department a reversal of its stand on the West Fourth street paving project.

After being informed yesterday that the state could not assist the city in the resurfacing of the state and federal highway because it was within the municipality, Hunter said the answer would not be taken "as a matter of fact," but that he would attempt to have highway department officials change their decision.

Offers Aid In This Case.

Almost at the same time highway department officials turned down the Mansfield project, it was learned a proposal was submitted to Lorain city and county officials offering state participation in a similar project within the city of Lorain, calling for a contribution by the state of between $100,000 and $125,000.

Service Director Paul Mikus of Lorain, who revealed the move yesterday, said the offer had come from Lorain county's state resident engineer, A. P. Lagron. The project includes the paving of one of Lorain's main thoroughfares, a state route, for a distance of nearly two miles.

Job Here Set at $86,000.

Hunter said he will point to this offer in his campaign to regain state aid on the resurfacing of West Fourth street from North Main street to Ausdale avenue. Estimates on the improvement have been figured at $86,000, of which the city of Mansfield has agreed to pay half.

Mayor Hunter claimed that "if the state has agreed to help on the Lorain paving job, Mansfield is entitled to equal consideration."

He said that he was attempting to arrange for a meeting of council's street committee, I. R. Ault, division highway engineer at Ashland, Boyd Weirman, resident en-

PATH CLEARED

PWA Ready to Allot Sandusky $1,515,000 for Light Plant.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The public works administration has cleared the way for final action on a loan and grant of $1,515,000 to Sandusky, O., for construction of a municipal power plant.

A conference here yesterday between city and PWA officials evolved a plan under which the city commission would authorize issuance of $17,500 in bonds for the sale to PWA to provide money with which to prepare specifications for the project.

Upon approval of the plan by the commission and the PWA legal counsel, the city would submit to the voters in the November general election a $1,085,000 bond issue to float a PWA loan for the project. The grant would total $430,000.

TVA 'Empire' Congress Will Investigate

(By Associated Press)

YEAR in year out, the best shows in Washington are the congressional investigations. It's a poor season when the Capitol hill dramatists don't produce at least one hit.

But this has been a season of flops.

But now it appears congress may have another hit in production—the inquiry into TVA by a joint senate-house committee of 10. Advance reports have received excellent press notices.

President Roosevelt himself wrote the prologue to the drama when he fired TVA Chairman A. E. Morgan as the climax of a series of charges and counter-charges between the chairman and his fellow directors of TVA, H. A. Morgan and David Lilienthal.

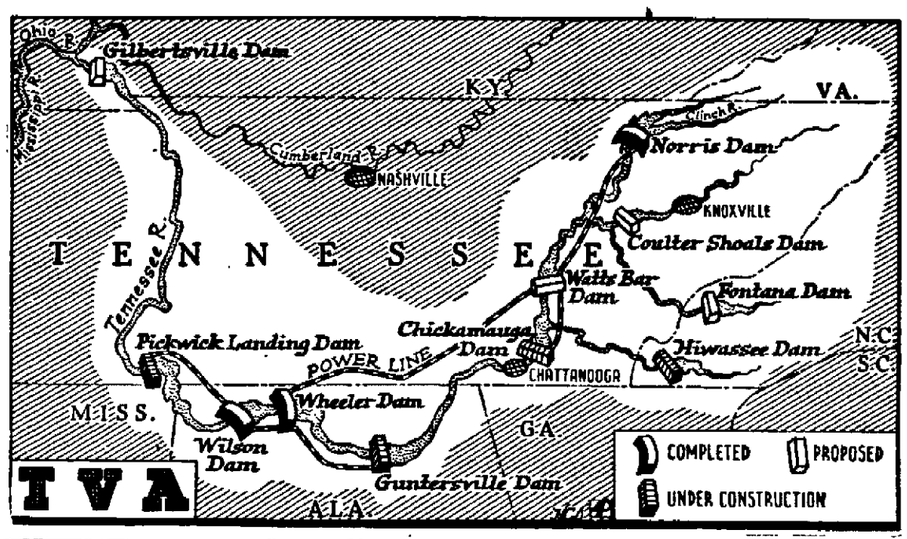
And now congress is going to investigate the whole thing—TVA, its power policy and the activities of its private competitors.

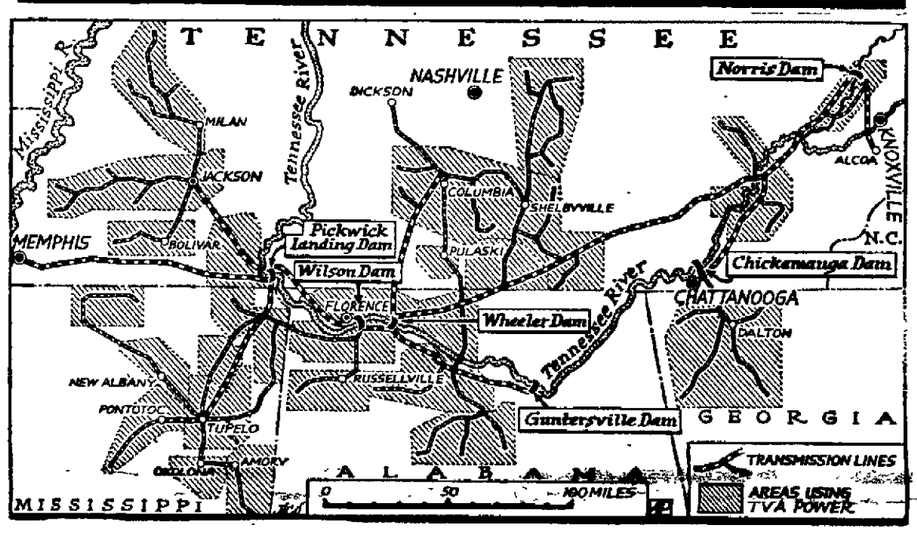
These two maps show the physical setup which the congressional sleuths will examine:

1. Above: The Tennessee river and the several dams completed, under construction and planned to develop its natural resources.
2. Below: The power distribution system, with its 4,000 miles of lines, and the areas in which it serves 40,000 customers.

To date the government has spent about $155,000,000 on TVA. For its money it has:

1. A power system producing about 8,500,000 kilowatt hours a month, which is being sold wholesale to municipalities and rural co-operatives.
2. Facilities for flood control, erosion prevention, navigation and the manufacture of fertilizer which cannot be accurately evaluated in dollars.





CLEAR 2 YOUTHS IN MURDER QUIZ

Officers Bring Hitch-Hikers Back From Indiana, Sure They're Not Involved.

Unable to connect two Mansfield youths, questioned yesterday at Valparaiso, Ind., with the murder of Sherman Reed, 58, who was slain in his cabin east of the city two weeks ago, Sheriff E. P. Long turned his investigation into another channel today in his attempt to solve the mystery.

The boys, both 19, had been held on suspicion by Valparaiso police after they were taken from a freight train. They were returned to their homes here last night by Sheriff Long and Detective Lee Remy, who said they were convinced the boys knew nothing about the Reed case.

The youths started last Saturday on a hitch-hiking trip to Utah and had only 16 cents in their pockets when taken into custody by police in the Indiana city.

Still without an important clue to the slaying of the WPA worker, Long indicated he would continue his search for a man who is believed to have held a grudge against Reed and had waited for an opportunity to "get even" with him.

Sheriff Long clings to the revenge motive in the slaying, basing his opinion on the fact that there was $17 in cash in the victim's pocket when his body was found.

Lorain Police Wound Convict Who Fled Indiana Prison.

LORAIN, O. — (INS) — Wounded slightly in an attempted holdup, Theodore Hulbert, 26, of St. Paul, Minn., was to be returned today to the Michigan City, Indiana prison.

Authorities of the prison advised Police Chief Theodore Walker that Hulbert was one of five men who escaped from the institution on Feb. 10. The four others had been recaptured previously.

JURY INDICTS 4

Three Men, Girl Accused In $39,000 Bank Robbery.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted three men and a girl in the $39,800 daylight robbery of the First National Bank of South Charleston on Jan. 19.

They were Amos Eugene Ward of Charleston and Leonard C. Jackson and Raymond Duvall of Indianapolis, Ind. Murcle Kidd McDaniel, alias June Carter, was indicted as an accessory.

Won't Permit Invasion Of America, President Says

Pan-American Day Address Tells Republics Nations Will Not Tolerate Aggression From 'Outside.'

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt declared today the American nations would not permit peace in the western hemisphere "to be endangered from aggression coming from outside."

Speaking on Pan-American day to the governing board of the Pan-American union, the president reasserted in a few words the historic Monroe doctrine—without naming it—and placed it on an inter-American basis. His speech was broadcast to all American republics.

Asserting that the 300,000,000 citizens of this hemisphere have the same material for controversy which exists elsewhere, he said:

"Yet, we have undertaken contractural obligations to solve these normal human differences by maintaining peace; and that peace we are firmly resolved to maintain.

"It shall not be endangered by controversies within our family; and we will not permit it to be endangered from aggression coming from outside of our hemisphere."

The president added that this common objective "forms a lasting foundation for the maintenance of an international understanding unique in the world." Elsewhere, he said, there are "tragedies whose shadows lie heavy on the world."

"The 21 American republics," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "present proudly to the rest of the world a demonstration that the rule of justice and law can be substituted for the rule of force: that resort to war as an instrument of policy is not necessary: that international differences of all kinds can be solved through peaceful negotiation; that the sanctity of the pledged word faithfully observed and generously interested offers a system of security with freedom."

1 DEAD, 27 ILL

Cream Puffs Blamed in Lorain Ptomaine Poisoning Cases.

LORAIN—(AP)—Angeline Cambria, 18-year-old Lorain girl died today and 27 other persons in various part of the city were seriously ill from what Dr. Valloyd Adair, city health commissioner, said was ptomaine poisoning traced to cream puffs.

Dr. Adair said he had traced the source of cream puffs from a local bakery with three retail outlets. He said two persons were critically ill in the hospital and that other victims were treated at home.

City Food Inspector William Todd said the cause of poisoning "beyond a doubt was the cream puffs."

Four members of one family were made ill, Dr. Adair said, with two of them in the hospital.

Thirty Foreign-Born Residents Become Citizens at Ceremony

The right of American citizenship came to 30 foreign-born residents of Mansfield and Richland county last night at a reception in their honor in the G. A. R. hall in the Memorial building.

Citizenship papers were presented to the 15 men and 15 women from five nations by Fred R. Zellner, county clerk of courts, after talks of welcome had been made by Rev. David B. Millar, 97-year-old retired pastor; Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, and John Correll, chairman of the Northwest Territory observance committee.

"I congratulate you on making a choice of America," Rev. Millar told the new citizens. "More of us would have come across the ocean to this country if it wasn't for sea sickness. These other people are citizens because they couldn't help it; you chose citizenship here," he said.

He predicted that the time will come when naturalized Americans will be honored when they reach 21, the voting age. "That should be made an experience in any one's life," he said.

Rev. Millar, who will be 98 in June, told how he came to America from his native Scotland in 1865, and served for 36 years as a Methodist pastor after trying a number of trades. He retired from the pulpit in 1907, and then became law librarian at the Richland county courthouse.

Judge Huston endorsed Rev. Millar's suggestion for a celebra-

1,100 AT THIRD FOOD SESSION

Economy Dishes Play Leading Roles in Demonstrations; School Ends Friday.

More than 1,100 women turned out today for the third session of The News-Journal cooking school at the Ohio theater, and those who left their housework and housecleaning felt fully repaid after the new recipes and demonstrations on economy dishes were introduced by Miss Ruth Chambers, lecturer.

Many women attending the school this week have expressed the opinion that more practical dishes and more economy meat preparations have been introduced than at previous schools.

On this morning's menu Hungarian goulash with bread dumplings appealed to housewives as did the broiled beef patties with bacon, both made with cheaper meat cuts. But there were luxury dishes, too, with the pineapple angel pie topping this list, with its demand for whipping cream, chopped pineapple, egg whites, pecans and maraschino cherries.

Miss Chambers told the women

INSURGENTS 12 MILES FROM SEA

Government Forces Bolster Defenses as Foes Push Forward.

HENDAYE, FRANCO-SPANISH BORDER — (INS) — Insurgent Spanish troops today were reported only 12 miles from the Mediterranea sea in the Vinazor sector, just south of Catalonia's southern border.

Government forces, according to advices received here, have brought up eighteen divisions of fighting men to defend their last line of communications in front of the coastal town of Vinaroz, which is located on the main coastal highway between Tortosa and Valencia.

SHOT TO DEATH

Suspected Burglar Killed by Columbus Policeman.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Arnold H. Dunn, 22, was shot to death early today by a merchant policeman who said he saw Dunn and another man fleeing from a grocery store.

Leroy Tucker, employed to patrol a suburban business district, told police he fired four times when his command to halt was ignored. Dunn fell dead within a few feet of his residence.

NEW SOIL PLAN CUTS COUNTY ACREAGE 5TH

Plant 16,555 Acres Less Than Last Year If You Want U. S. 'Gravy,' Farmers Told.

1,500 EXPECTED TO SIGN

Marked Reduction to Force Increase in Soy Beans, Hay, Pasture Crops.

If Richland county farmers want to get their share of Uncle Sam's "gravy" for not raising crops, they will have to take 16,555 acres out of production of "cash" soil-depleting crops in 1938, Guy Taylor, county soils conservation chairman, was informed today by the federal soils conservation administration.

The reduction, amounting to 18 per cent, represents the difference between the 104,557 acres the county was allotted for "cash" crops last year and the 88,002 acres set up for the county under the new federal program.

Allots 29,105 Acres of Corn.

The 1,500 farmers who are expected to sign up for the 1938 program will be permitted to plant 29,105 acres in corn this year, Taylor said. The county allotment for wheat has not been established, since the new wheat crop will not be ready for sowing until next September.

The marked reduction under the 1938 federal program of restricted production will force many farmers to increase their acreage of soy beans and hay and pasture crops, Taylor said.

Protest Reductions.

A number of farmers have protested at the slash in their wheat and corn acreage, which forces them to gamble on whether the payments they will get from the government will equal the income they would receive if they went ahead to plant their usual acreage and depended on prices to increase at harvest tmie.

Included in the "cash" crops on which the acreage must be reduced are corn, wheat, oats, rye and potatoes, all of which usually are marketed soon after the harvest season or used to feed livestock.

About 1,600 county farmers received $88,000 last year for participation in the federal crop plan and $29,000 already has been paid to farmers this year. It has been estimated that payments under the 1938 program will show a decrease, due to the reluctance of farmers to make sharp reductions in their wheat and corn acreage.

COUNCIL CALLED

Authorization of Water Bond Sale to Be Sought.

City council will meet in special session tomorrow night, called by Mayor Claude M. Hunter to authorize the sale of $64,000 in mortgage revenue bonds in order to proceed with the $75,000 Woodland water project, approved three weeks ago.

City Solicitor Marion D. Ward said the 12-page measure will call for the sale of $64,000 in "open-end" mortgage revenue bonds against the municipal water plant.

He said that city officials had asked for open-end bonds that will leave the way open for any future developments in the water distribution system that might call for the issuance of additional bonds. The measure calls for the bonds to be matured over a period of eight years, Ward said.

PRESIDENT LAYS LEND-SPEND PLAN BEFORE CONGRESS

Relief Maintenance, Credit Expansion, Revival of Public Works Program Included In Plan; Broadcast to Ask Public Backing Tonight.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today a $4,512,000,000 lending-spending-credit expansion program in the New Deal's second great pump-priming campaign against depression.

His plans would revive the tactics by which the administration aided business from the depths in 1933. But associates said the net increase in the national debt would not exceed $1,000,000,000.

The program would involve use of the administration's $1,400,000,000 gold nest egg.

Mr. Roosevelt, working until 2:45 a. m. today to reshape his plans after conference with congressional leaders, will go on the air at 10:30 (EST) tonight to rally popular support for the New Deal against an economy-minded opposition which some persons believe includes Vice President John N. Garner.

General objective of the new plan was to increase national income in the next couple of years from the present rate of $56,000,000,000 to around $80,000,000,000 a year. The plan fell in three general categories:

1. Maintenance of relief.
2. Expansion of credit.
3. Revival of public works and additional funds for certain active New Deal recovery agencies.

Asks United Effort.

Mr. Roosevelt asked for a united national will in the recovery effort. He pointedly called attention of congress and country to the contention that his legislative recommendations since Jan. 1 had not been of a type calculated to disturb business.

"The record speaks for itself," he said. "No other measures affecting business have been proposed."

The lending-spending-credit expansion plan breaks down as follows:

1. $2,062,000,000 of treasury expenditures to make work.
2. $950,000,000 of treasury loans to make work.
3. $1,500,000,000 of Reconstruction Finance corporation loans to aid business and states and their sub-divisions.
4. Desterilization of $1,182,000,000 gold, use of $210,000,000 free gold already in the treasury working balance and federal reserve reduction of reserve requirements by about $750,000,000.

The credit expansion involved is tremendous but the fourth category requires no legislation, being a bookkeeping transaction which will not affect the national debt or the budget deficit in any way.

Outlines 'Certain Needs.'

Mr. Roosevelt told congerss that beyond this program there were "certain needs" which should be considered:

1. Elimination of future tax exemption of bonds of all government agencies.
2. Subjection of all government salaries and wages from any source to federal and state income taxation.
3. Solution of the railroad, monopoly and price-fixing problems.

The plan to utilize the sterile gold and free gold funds accumulated during an earlier administration effort to put the brakes on run-away credit conditions did not involve earmarking them for any particular purpose. The gold evidently will be transferred into the general treasury fund for expenditure as needed.

But the president put his recovery plan in the emergency category and proposed to limit a large part of expenditures to projects which could be started within six months and completed within a year or a year and a half. The revived public works plan would be optionally either a duplication of the former 45 per cent gift and 55 per cent loan plan or a 100 per cent non-interest bearing loans to states. The cost to the government would be about the same either way. Mr. Roosevelt said he did not believe the treasury should be out of pocket more than $1,000,000,000 for PWA.

The message re-capitulated new spending-lending proposals beyond previous budget plans this way:

1. Expenditures from the treasury for work:
A. Works Progress Administration	$1,250,000,000
B. Farm Security Administration	75,000,000
C. National Youth Administration	75,000,000
D. Civilian Conservation Corps	50,000,000
E. Public Works Administration	450,000,000
F. Highways	100,000,000
G. Flood Control	37,000,000
H. Federal Buildings	25,000,000
Total	$2,062,000,000
2. Loans from the treasury for work:
A. Farm Security Administration	$ 100,000,000

Highlights of Message Sent Congress on Recovery Plan

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Highlights of President Roosevelt's recovery and relief message follow:

"Current events, if allowed to run undisturbed, will continue to threaten the security of our people and the stability of our economic life."

"The laying off of workers came upon us last autumn and has been continuing at such a pace ever since that all of us, government and banking and business and workers, and those faced with destitution, recognize the need for action."

"I believe that improvement in government and business practices must go hand in hand with recovery."

"The congress and the chief executive can ill-afford to weaken or destroy great reforms which, during the past five years, have been effected on behalf of the American people."

Roosevelt Criticism Threatens New Battle On Tax Revision

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt's criticism of the tax revisions approved by the senate threatened today to precipitate a new battle in congress.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the senate, in repealing the undistributed profits tax and drastically modifying the capital gains tax struck "at the root of fundamental principles of taxation."

Conferees from the house and senate were meeting to reconcile the differences between the tax bills passed by the two houses. The house modified the undistributed profits tax but retained its principle. As a result of Mr. Roosevelt's statement the conferees were expected to disagree. This would permit the senate's changes to go before the house for debate, opening the way for a test on the principle of the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax.

Sen. Pat Harrison, (D.-Miss.) chairman of the senate finance committee and sponsor of the revisions of the house bill which the senate approved, will insist upon retaining the changes.

Mr. Roosevelt stated his views in a letter to Harrison and Chairman Robert L. Doughton (D.-N. C.), of the house ways and means committee. He appealed for restoration of the principle of the undistributed profits tax and application of regular income rates to capital gains, contending that those suggestions would help, not hurt, business.

PRESIDENT ASKS $4,512,000,000 PUMP PRIMING

Lending-Spending-Credit Plan Outlined to Congress in Special Message.

B. Public Works Administration	550 000 000
C. U. S. Housing Administration	300 000 000
Totals	$ 950 000 000

On the basis of lending-spending data contained in the message and assuming that all RFC and other loans are repaid, the actual ultimate cost to the treasury would be approximately $612,000,000 beyond recovery and relief figures budgeted in January, 1938, for the next fiscal year plus whatever sum may be required to care for the unemployed from Feb. 1, 1939 to July 1. The $1,250,000,000 WPA appropriation would be for expenditure during the first seven months of the next fiscal year up to Feb. 1.

But the administration is confident of a better treasury showing than that. It is expected that this shot-in-the-arm for business during the next fiscal year will increase the industrial turnover, hike the national income and raise federal revenue sharply above current averages.

ESTATE SUED

Action Threatens $500,000 Left by Bishop Brown.

BUCYRUS — The half-million dollar estate left by the late Bishop W. M Brown of Galion was threatened today by a suit filed in Crawford county probate court, questioning the distribution of the estate of the late bishop's wife after her death.

Filed by Mrs. Una Scranton Hammond, North Olmstead, an heir of Mrs. Brown, the action asks modification of the court order which in 1936 gave Mrs. Brown's estate to her husband. Hearing on the application has been set for May 10 before Probate Judge Constance Keller.

The suit seeks a new determination of the heirs of Mrs. Brown and a re-distribution of her estate which was merged with that of Bishop Brown. The petition contends that Mrs. Mary S. Bradford, now deceased, was entitled to Mrs Brown's estate since she had adopted her.

It was predicted that any court decision on the matter would affect the will of the deposed bishop, who left a large portion of his estate to the Communist party following his death last October.

Her Vote Costs State $50

—Inter. Ill. News Photo.

Of all the votes cast in Illinois' primary, first of the 48 states, that of Mrs. Irene Polacek probably was the most expensive and unusual. Mrs. Polacek is the only voter in the 51st precinct of Chicago's 20th ward and she voted in her own home where she is shown casting her ballot. To record the Polacek vote the taxpayers had to hand out $8 apiece for four election judges and a clerk and $10 to Mrs. Polacek for the use of her apartment as a polling place.

REA TO FIGHT 'SPITE LINES'

Orders Immediate Erection of Rural Power System in Norwalk Area.

Immediate construction of rural power lines in the Norwalk area under an REA project which eventually will serve parts of Huron, Richland and Ashland counties, was authorized today by rural electrification officials to "provide protection against alleged spite lines of a private power company."

In a United Press dispatch to The News-Journal from Washington, REA officials said regular authorization, which normally follows approval of bids and contract negotiations, wiud be waived in this case to permit the Firelands Electric Co-operative of Norwalk to compete with the Ohio Power company in construction of rural lines.

Workmen already have begun setting poles in Huron county under the $100,000 REA proect, but Harry Miller, Richland county farm bureau field man, said an additional $100,000 federal grant must be made if farmers in this county are to benefit from the lines.

The Firelands co-operative recently signed a contract with the Norwalk municipal power plant to obtain current for rural lines in the Norwalk district.

In a statement to Firelands co-operative members, REA officials said: "The Ohio Power company, which recently acquired the Lake Erie Power company, suddenly began preparations to build lines to serve one of the richest parts of your proect. If the power company had succeeded in building lines in that section, the feasibility of your entire proect might have been seriously affected."

JURORS INDICT FORMER MAYOR

Ex-Official of Buffalo Faces Charges of Misconduct and Graft While In Office.

(By United Press)

BUFFALO N Y.—Former Mayor George J Zimmermann has been indicted by an extraordinary grand jury investigating charges of official misconduct and graft in the administration of the city of Buffalo

The indictment was based on the mayor's activities in connection with the city s $15,000,000 sewer system which was inaugurated during his administration.

The indictment contained nine counts charging that he "wilfully used the power and influence of his office to take unlawful fees"

The former mayor pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Supreme Court Justice George A Larkin He was released under $20,000 bail

Councilman-At-Large George R Reilly was sentenced to eight months in prison and fined $382 today for obtaining a city WPA supervisor's job under an assumed name He was one of the 18 persons indicted in the city affairs administration

Tim Nolan's Fight Show Proves Flop

Small Crowd Sees Uninteresting Bouts on Card Staged In Armory Ring.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

TIM NOLAN had better confine his promotional ambitions to wrestling in the future.

His attempt to insert life in the dead boxing game in the city proved an artistic as well as a financial flop in the Armory ring last night.

Only a handful of customers were on hand to witness the Quality club's fistic presentation, and there is very little that the small ensemblage saw in the way of action.

Kid Wins Easily.

The Alabama Kid was on hand as scheduled, and he won as expected, but in a much easier fashion than anticipated.

Bud Creed, who claims Milwaukee as his home, might own a pretty good record, but he was no match for the colored Columbus clouter, who was awarded a technical knockout decision by Referee Bill Cochrane of Cincinnati in the fifth round.

The Kid is still one of the best middleweight scrappers around these parts, but it was not necessary for him to unload his guns last night.

He merely toyed with his heavier opponent for four rounds, but dealt out enough punishment to force Creed's second to toss in the towel during the rest period after the fourth round.

It looked as though the Kid could have put the Milwaukee colored boy to the canvas any time he desired, but took his good old time in an attempt to give the spectators a show.

The Kid tipped the scales at 162 pounds, which was 10 less than his opponent weighed.

There is very little to say about the rest of the show. In the first of three six-round bouts, Tom Woodward, ex-Mt. Vernon high grid star, won on a technical knockout over a colored foe whose name was lost midst the booes of the "crowd," hostile because of a half hour delay in starting the show. But his identity is unimportant. He was not hit once, but fell to the canvas four times. He quit.

A pair of lightweights, Tiger Wills of Cincinnati and Paul Rockwell of Mt. Vernon, were next, and they staged the only real fight of the night, but it was short. After taking a nine count early in the second, Wills came back to floor his foe for keeps on the last of two knockdowns. This was no fluke, either.

Delaney Runs Out.

Jack Delaney, Mansfield middleweight, was supposed to appear in the third and last prelim bout, but he refused to go on because of the small crowd.

His place was taken by Long John, a tall Columbus colored boy, who went six rounds to a draw with Roy Smith of Lima.

The bouts were staged without judges, a bell to start the rounds and a physician to examine the fighters.

Maybe we do need a boxing commission after all to supervise what is left of the fight game in the city.

Battle to Tie In Grid Game

Madison high school grid candidates opened their series of spring games yesterday with Notre Dame and Alabama battling to a 7 to 7 tie.

Notre Dame scored in the second period on DeNero's 35-yard pass to Bill Wilkins, and converted the extra point via the same route. Alabama tallied in the third quarter when Joe Miller plunged through tackle, and Bob Wilkins took a pass for the point.

The next game of the series will be played Monday.

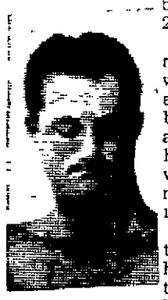
Talaber to Defend Title In Armory Ring

MANSFIELD will be offered a championship mat match at the Armory Monday night.

In line with Tim Nolan's promise to give Mansfield customers a glimpse at some of the top-notch grapplers, the Quality club has signed Frankie Talaber to defend his world's light-heavyweight title the great Mephisto.

Champ Only 25.

Talaber won the championship by defeating Bill Weidner in Columbus a few weeks ago, and is the youngest man ever to hold a belt. He is only 25.



Talaber

Mephisto, a former light-heavyweight title holder himself, has been aching for a chance to prove he is still the world's greatest matman, according to Nolan.

The feeling is that Talaber will have an even tougher time holding onto the championship than he did in acquiring it. Among his most persistent challengers are Mephisto, Weidner, Billy Thom, George Dusette, Whitey Wahlberg and Prince Ilaki, but Mephisto seems to stand out above the lot.

Talaber and Mephisto will wrestle for two falls, with a time limit of an hour and a half.

Two other high-caliber contests will be added to the card.

Heads District

Don C. Cram, Y. M. C. A. physical director, has been named district commissioner of Marion, Richland, Knox, Crawford, Ashland and Morrow counties for the Ohio Amateur Softball association, it was announced today by C. Carl May of Portsmouth, state commissioner. Cram was a county commissioner last season.

CLUB SEEKS GAMES

The Musille softball club want games with any team in this vicinity. Games can be arranged by contacting Manager Pete Schadek.

DOUG MILLER'S Oldsmobiles cinched the City league championship, but the Meder Recreation team held most of the attention in the weekly matches last night.

The cellar Meder men broke out in a scoring rash last night to hang up a hot 3022 total, which consisted of games of 971, 1004 and 1047. They swept their series with the Lumbermen's Mutuals, led by Jimmy Smith's 630

Babe Meder was the chief pin wrecker for the high scorers. Showing a middle game of 253, young Meder cracked out a 660, the best individual count of the night. Ted Ganyard contributed a 640 and Pete Linster rolled a 624.

The Oldsmobiles put the clincher on the championship by taking a couple of games from the Liederkranz club John Leppo, 636, and Earl Robertson, 626, led the Automen to a 2924 total. Nick Schmidt counted a 614 for the losers.

Streaks' Foe Shows Class In Dual Meet

Columbus North Hands Out Beating to Champs.

There is a question whether Harry Mehock's thin-clads of Mansfield high school can make it two straight Saturday when they engage Columbus North in a dual meet at Stadium field.

In the Columbus school, Mehock's men meet the defending Central Ohio district and city champion, and also the only team to beat Upper Arlington in a dual affair in two years.

Score Decisive Win.

The Polar Bear athletes served notice on the Mansfielders last Monday when they marched over Arlington by a decisive 72 to 55 margin.

Upper Arlington is the defending Class B state champions, and is strong enough again this year to trim the majority of the Class A schools in dual competition, it is reported.

North was particularly strong on the track in its debut triumph over the state champs. Dupre gave the Bears their only first in the field with a leap of over 20 feet in the broad jump.

One of the better performances of the opening meet was Cobb's time of 4:55 for the mile. He is expected to make the Mehock milers step at their fastest pace Saturday.

North has an outstanding sprintman in Ruray, who won both the 100 and 220, and outstanding middle distance runners in Jones and Bazler.

Work Out Daily.

Although no classes are being held at the high school this week, Mehock is conducting daily practice sessions at Stadium field to prepare for the meet.

Mehock was not certain today that all of the Red Streak cripples would be available for duty Saturday.

The Streaks have split even in two meets to date, defeating Newark and losing to Fremont Ross

HITS AROUND .600

ORLANDO, Fla. —(AP)— Outfielder Al Simmons, who didn't break down any fences last year, is batting around .600 this spring for the Washington Senators.

Entries Pile Up

McKinley Boys of Ashland to Compete in J. A. C. Show in 'Y' Ring.

ALL of the more capable simonpure mitt slingers in this part of the state will be involved in the action in the Junior Association of Commerce A. A. U. boxing tournament to open at the Y. M C. A. Wednesday night.

Included among the leather pushers to display their wares in what is expected to be the biggest amateur tournament in the vicinity are the McKinley brothers of Ashland, Ernie and Mel.

Both Popular Here.

Neither Ernie nor Mel need an introduction to Mansfield fistic followers as both have been seen in action in home town rings on numerous occasions.

Ernie is a particular favorite with Mansfield fight-goers. A willing, hard-hitting flyweight, he has suffered only one defeat this year.

The lone setback came in the Golden Gloves tournament in Cleveland at the hands of one of the finalists.

Since that defeat, Ernie has registered a pair of victories over Curley Miller, one of Mansfield's leading ringsters, in addition to collecting a number of tournament championships

Mel is a bantamweight, and is expected to be one of the toughest in the elimination.

Stables from Marion, Bucyrus, Galion, Crestline, and Norwalk, in addition to Mansfield and Ashland, will be represented in the tournament.

Among the Crestline scrappers who will compete are Leroy Hoffman, 147; Frank Dolce, 112; Phil Ganni, 147; Jack Queen, 118, and Mitchell Dolce, 118. Bill McCork, 135, and Leroy Smith, 126, are included among the Ashland entrants.

Fight Out of Norwalk.

Norwalk will send George Wetlin, 147, and Ernest Viock, also 147, and Leipsic will be represented by James Felter, 133.

Y. M. C. A. boxers now preparing for the tournament are John Emerson, 135; George Lacknett, 167, Robert Miller, 135, and William Fair, 145.

Admission prices have been set at 25 and 50 cents.

STOCK LEADERS DIP FRACTIONS AFTER OPENING

Market Lacks Rallying Urge as Analysts Watch for New Developments.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks lacked the rallying urge in today's market and, after a mildly mixed opening, leaders dipped fractions to around a point.

With the exchange closed tomorrow for the Good Friday holiday, many traders absented themselves from boardrooms and others displayed a tendency to lighten commitments.

Rails maintained balance fairly well notwithstanding refusal of the interstate commerce commission to approve a boost in passenger fares for eastern roads.

Bonds and commodities were uneven. Foreign securities markets were mixed. The Paris Bourse exhibited strength as French political skies appeared to be clearing.

While Wall Street's attention was centered mainly on Washington, analysts continued to keep an eye on business developments.

From Detroit came forecasts of a further moderate step-up in automobile production with expectations of more improvement over the next several weeks.

Holders of automobile shares noted figures of General Motors disclosing the company's March sales of cars and trucks in overseas markets established a new high record for the month, the total being 15 per cent ahead of the like period a year ago.

CANFIELD ANNOUNCES A NEW GASOLINE!!

AT PRICE OF REGULAR

CANZOL '72'

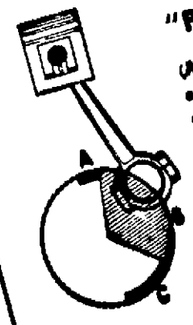
It is POWER Intensified

☆ Flash away at traffic lights...roll up hills...get the utmost power, mileage and smooth performance from your car with a regular-priced gasoline...Use the new Canzol 72.

This new gasoline is a special blend motor-fuel that burns quickly and cleanly...applying its intense power at the critical stage of your motor's power stroke. Canzol 72 has been power intensified by Canfield to give you top performance in your modern motor car.

For a new motoring thrill, fill your tank today at your neighborhood Canfield dealer.

HOW CANZOL 72 IS "POWER INTENSIFIED"



(A) Ordinary gasolines which detonate at this point of the power stroke knock and waste power.

(B) Canzol 72 burns quickly, cleanly and thoroughly through this portion of the power stroke, developing maximum power and acceleration in your motor.

(C) Slow burning gasolines flame out of the exhaust, wasting power.

HERE'S SEASON'S 1ST FISH STORY

FORT SCOTT, Kas.—(AP)—Fishing near here, Joe Harrington reached down from his boat to add one more, No. 16, to the string dangling in the water.

When he looked up, the 15 fish were gone. He heard a splashing near the bank and rowed to investigate.

There was his string of fish and attached to it was a 4¾-pound bass that had tried to swallow one of those on the string.

The bass couldn't complete the job or back out.

LEGAL NOTICE
RESOLUTION

The following is the tentative plan of redistricting of Richland County under the Foundation Program, approved by the State Director of Education and acted upon by the County Board of Education at their regular meeting, March 26, 1938. The same will be up for a hearing on April 30th, 1938, at 1:30 p. m. in the Common Pleas Court Room, Court House, Mansfield, Ohio:

Cass Village S. D. will consist of Cass Township and in Bloominggrove Township, Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 17, 18, 19, 20, and 30, and the west half of sections 4, 9, 16, 21, and the NW quarter of section 28, and NE. NW, and SW quarters of section 29.

Union Rural S. D. will consist of the present Union Rural (Franklin and Weller Townships), Butler Township, and the following section from Bloominggrove Township: 3, 10, 15, 22, 27, 34, 33, 32, 31, and the east half of sections 4, 9, 16, 21, 28, and SW quarter of section 28 and the SE quarter of section 29.

The following School Districts will remain the same as set up in 1937: Bellville Village, Plymouth Village; Madison Rural; Mifflin Rural; Springfield Rural; Lexington Village; Monroe Rural; Butler Village, Washington Rural; and Sharon Rural.

This is to certify that the above is a true copy of the action of the Richland County Board of Education, March 26, 1938.

HERE'S a real opportunity for you. Now you can get a cake of the wonderful Noxzema Medicated Cream Soap—FREE—with a medium sized jar of Noxzema! Once you've tried it—you'll agree it's the very soap you need to keep your skin soft, smooth and lovely. This grand soap contains the same famous medication in Noxzema Cream. That's why it's so good for your skin . . . it's fragrant, soothing—and cleanses thoroughly. Work Noxzema Soap's extra-creamy lather well into your pores . . . then rinse with cold water. See and feel the difference. Noxzema Soap is grand for baby's bath . . . its lather is so gentle and bland. Use it for your next shampoo, too. The extra-creamy lather will leave your hair soft, gleaming, clean. Don't forget you can try this fine soap without paying one penny for it.

ON LIMITED TIME OFFER

Troubled with Chapped Hands? Use Noxzema Medicated Cream. Doctors will tell you chapped surfaces are really tiny skin cuts which need a medication—not a cosmetic—to help heal those skin cuts Get Noxzema Cream and Noxzema Soap today!

"Took Only Three Weeks For World's Tonic To Give Sweet Relief," Says Local Man

Tells How Pains in Back and Limbs Were Relieved, Dizzy Feelings and Spots Before Eyes Ceased.

Says "Sleep Became Sound When This Great Medicine Helped Relieve Constipation—Advises Every Sufferer To Try It".

Continues Mr. Ray Adams, residing at 435 S. 9th St., Coshocton, O., in talking to the WORLD'S TONIC man. "I can't say too much for the merits of this root and herb medicine. I'm not surprised that it is so popular and widely used. I have taken all sorts of different medicines but never had any of them given me such sweet relief as three bottles of WORLD'S TONIC brought. I can hardly remember back a day that I was not constipated unless I took some strong sort of medicine. At times I felt as if I was full of poisons for my back ached, limbs were stiff and every morning I awakened with a sore, stiff, all-in feeling instead of being rested.

"I was afraid to stoop over because blood would rush to my head, things would spin around, spots roll before my eyes and my face would flush so that I wondered about my blood pressure. My skin was sallow, my breath always very bad and I could continually taste food in my mouth. Meals left me full and bloated with gas and I was constantly in fear of indigestion. Walking upstairs was difficult because my breath would give out quickly.

"I heard so many people hereabout speaking so highly of WORLD'S TONIC for these same troubles that I began taking it about three weeks ago and now I feel better than in years. I have taken many other medicines but, to me, WORLD'S TONIC seems entirely different. My bowels now move easily twice a day without griping or pains. WORLD'S TONIC seemed to be what I needed for now my backache is not with me. I don't feel dizzy. I sleep well and awaken feeling fully rested. I eat hearty meals and no bother with gas, and not afraid to walk upstairs and no acid risings.

"I think WORLD'S TONIC is a grand medicine and want to advise everyone suffering like I did to try it."

WORLD'S TONIC is not an old style nasty medicine to take. It does not contain habit forming drugs or narcotics.

WORLD'S TONIC is for

WELL, BIM, NOW THAT YOU'VE HAD A FEW DAYS TO THINK IT OVER, HAVE YOU DECIDED TO JOIN FORCES WITH MY ASSOCIATES?
I'VE BEEN SO BUSY LATELY THAT I HAVEN'T GIVEN THE MATTER MUCH THOUGHT
THE FACT THAT YOU EVER MADE ANY MONEY IN YOUR LIFE IS AS MYSTERIOUS TO ME AS CHOP SUEY-THE WAY YOU TOSS YOUR GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY AROUND IS A CRIME-
ANDY, MY BOY, I APPRECIATE YOUR INTEREST IN ME, BUT LET ME REMIND YOU THAT I'M STILL FULLY CAPABLE OF MAKING MY OWN DECISIONS
VERY WELL, IF YOU WANT TO CONTINUE TO SPEND YOUR LIFE AMONG THE INDUSTRIAL RIP-VAN-WINKLES, THAT'S YOUR LOOKOUT - BUT I'VE GOT 43,000 REASONS IN THIS LITTLE BANK BOOK TO PROVE THAT I'M NOT SUFFERING FROM FINANCIAL SLEEPING SICKNESS !!!!

COUNTY'S SALES TAX AID DROPS

Revenue to Date Only Half Amount Received in 1937; New Allocation $9,350.

A $9,350 sales tax allocation was received today by Richland county, bringing total receipts from that source for the year to $14,150, less than half the amount the county got in the same period last year.

The allocation, made by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, represents the county's share of March receipts.

Due to a shift of funds to provide for the state's new relief program, the county received no sales tax money for local government operations in January, and only $4,800 in February. Monthly allocations last year averaged $10,000.

The money allocated to the county is redistributed to the subdivisions by County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe.

March allocations to other counties in this area included:

Ashland, $4,434; Crawford, $5,417; Huron, $4,749; Knox, $3,684, and Morrow, $1,690.

GALION—Members of the Harmony club were entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Stanford on Grant street.

APPROVES BILL TO ASSESS U. S. ON FLOOD JOBS

House Committee Favors Plan to Finance All Costs From Federal Funds.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Legislation to place the full cost of flood control reservoirs on the federal government has received the endorsement of a majority of the members of the house flood control committee.

Existing laws require local governments to pay for property rights.

Proponents of the legislation forecast its inclusion in a national flood control program to be drafted by the committee for action at the current session of congress

Chairman Whittington (D-Miss) said many projects authorized in previous acts were held up because local governments were unable or unwilling to furnish property rights.

Tells of Refusals.

Committeeman Secrest (D-Ohio) told his colleagues he understood the governors of West Virginia and Kentucky had refused flatly to endorse measures to enable their states to furnish property rights The governors, Secrest said, contended flood control was a national problem that should be financed wholly by federal government.

The federal legislation, supported by Senator Barkley (D-Ky) and House Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex.), would not affect purely local projects such as river walls.

Members said they expected the committee to recommend a billion dollar reservoir-river wall program.

Funds for the huge program would be appropriated over a period of years as needed.

Whittington said the committee's bill would be based on surveys by the army engineers who recommended an $800,000,000 program last year. That program was pigeonholed on request of President Roosevelt.

The president, in his recent budget message, objected to high expenditures for flood control on the ground other public works would provide more employment.

Secrest told the committee labor costs for flood defense works exceeded those for highways.

Col. J. A. Arthur, army engineer of the Huntington, W. Va., and Zanesville, Ohio, district, testified 50 per cent of each dollar spent on Muskingum valley (Ohio) reservoirs represented labor costs. This, he said, exceeded labor costs on road work by 12 per cent.

HELD BY POLICE

Kentucky Man Jailed as Suspect In Attempted Burglary.

A 29-year-old colored man who gave a Bowling Green, Ky., address, was held for investigation by police today in connection with the attempted burglary of the Mansfield Typewriter and Office Supply company, 36 West Third street.

The suspect was arrested after Patrolman John Steel saw him on the roof of the building Investigation by police disclosed that a window in the rear of the establishment had been forced open. Officials of the company reported that nothing was missing, however.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said the man's fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Washington to learn if he had a previous police record.

SON ENDS TIES OF CLAN WITH 'PASSION PLAY'

Boy Joins Arctic Mission; His Father, 'Christus,' Finally Yields.

(By United Press)

ST. LOUIS.—Friedl Lang, son of Oberammergau's "Christus," who by learning to fly upset a family tradition centuries old, will join Father Paul Schulte as pilot of on of three airplanes used by the "flying priest" in his Arctic missions.

Lang, youngest flier ever to gain a German transport license, passed examinations in radio navigation and instrument flying—on his 19th birthday—at the Parks' air college here.

The youthful flier, whose family has participated in the traditional miracle play at Oberammergau for three centuries, decided to become an aviator after reading of the missionary exploits of Father Schulte, a former German imperial air corps pilot, in Africa and later in Canada.

Father Won Over.

Overcoming the objections of his parent, Anton—"Christus" of three Passion plays—Lang determined to join Father Schulte when the priest in 1934 announced plans for extending his activities. He wrote to Father Schulte and asked to become one of his pilots.

"But he only told me to wait until I was older," Lang said. "He said I could not be a pilot until I was at least 18."

The following summer, however, Father Schulte visited Oberammergau and visited the Lang home. The youth made the most of the opportunity and convinced the priest of his qualifications, which included a knowledge of English.

The youth spent a year at a Dusseldorf airplane factory where he studied construction and design. The following six months he studied the intricacies of the manufacture of airplane engines at a factory in Munich. He received his training as a pilot at a Berlin airport.

Last December Lang joined Father Schulte in New York where the priest was attending to details of establishing a radio station in the Arctic Circle to guide planes of the Missionary Vehicular association. From New York Lang was sent here for three months' instruction in instrument flying.

He will leave for the far north this spring.

VILLAGE UNDER WATER

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Max Nohl, Milwaukee diver, found a huge stone structure 36 feet beneath the surface of Lake Mills, Wis. Scientists believe this is part of a flooded Indian village of a type heretofore unknown.

Mauled For 'Heil'

The Hon. Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale, appeared at a Socialist "Save Spain" demonstration in London with a Swastika brassard on her arm. She was knocked down and mauled after she had struck persons who called Hitler names.

PLANS NEW SUB TRIP TO ARCTIC

Wilkins, Polar Explorer, Maps Under Ice Weather Station.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, Polar explorer, has announced that he would make another attempt next spring to cross the north pole in a submarine. He made his first attempt in 1931.

He said the trip would take about three months.

"Later, we will send the sub back to set up a permanent weather observation base under the ice between Wrangle island and British Prince Patrick island," he said.

RUNS AGAIN

Bolton, Congressman 8 Years, to Seek G. O. P. Nomination.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Chester C. Bolton, for eight years congressman from 22nd district, one of the largest in the country, has announced himself a candidate for renomination at the Republican primary.

Bolton, one of the wealthiest men in congress and an authority on Federal Finance, lost his seat in the 1936 election to Anthony A. Fleger, Democrat.

EXPORT TRADE SHOWS INCREASE

February Shows $99,648,000 Favorable Trade Balance.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— American export trade continued at a brisk rate in February and enabled the United States to pile up a $99,648,000 favorable trade balance for the month, the commerce department has reported.

The value of exports for February was $262,733,000 as compared with $233,125,000 in February 1937.

A 41 per cent drop in the import volume was recorded last month from the same month a year earlier. Shipments into the United States were valued at $163,085,000 as against $277,709,000 in February 1937.

2 PHYSICIANS WARN MR. STORK

Check Before Delivery, They Warn Citing Unpaid Bills.

ROWSE CITY, Tex.—(AP)—Two Royse City physicians believe in giving the stork fair warning.

"If you are expecting the stork to visit your home this year, and he has to come by the way of Royse City, he will have to bring his check book to pay his bill before delivery, as the undersigned doctors delivered many babies during 1937 and over half of them have not been paid for," said the doctors' advertisement in a weekly newspaper.

"To those who have not paid their 1937 bill in full or made satisfactory arrangements, do like the stork, be sure to bring your check book when you call again."

GAS CHAMBERS MADE TO BRING QUICKER DEATH

California's San Quentin Prison to Have Fastest Cell, Manufacturer Says.

(By United Press)

DENVER—Mile-high Denver—nationally famous as a health center—ironically has became the nation's leading producer of lethal gas chambers.

Earl C. Liston, a quiet, self-styled "steel architect," and his workers are applying the finishing touches to a new gas chamber for San Quentin prison in California. The same company has built the grim steel death boxes now in use in the state penitentiaries of Colorado, Oregon, Missouri and Wyoming.

"We seem to have a monoply on the gas chamber business," admits Liston. "We've built five of them—and that's exactly five more than any other company ever made."

Liston, who refuses to discuss his views on capital punishment, prides himself on the fact his gas chambers can take a human life in a few seconds.

The new chamber, which will supplant San Quentin's gallows, is equipped for double executions and is guaranteed by Liston to "do its job in well under 15 seconds."

The chamber is octagonal in shape and is built of corrosion resisting steel. On seven sides it has windows of bullet-proof glass, one and three-sixteenths inches thick. It is 8 feet in diameter and 7 feet high.

The California chamber incorporates an innovation in death cell manufacture. Acid, which generates deadly gas when it comes in contact with the tiny balls of cyanide used, is let into the chamber through special tubes Formerly the acid was placed in an ordinary crock under the death chair and the poison balls were dropped into it by pulling a lever.

"This new system will make it easier on the executioner," explained Liston. "Pulling a lever to kill a man is hard work. Pouring acid down a tube is easier on the nerves, more like watering flowers But it gets results."

CHAPTER XII

The worse part was the recurrent remembrance of Gay looking at him with serious eyes and asking him what he would do if someone tried to blackmail him. He had been trying hard not to remember it, but it kept gate-crashing in among his thoughts. If Gay was being blackmailed, what was the threat, the compulsion? You can't blackmail a girl with just nothing at all. You've got to have a hold over her. What sort of mess had Gay got herself into?

He revolted sharply. She wasn't that sort. He felt an anger which surprised and discomfited him. He felt also a burning desire to weigh in and knock the blackmailer's teeth through the back of his head.

He tried to remember what she had said. She had flared up. And she had said, "What do you think I've done?" and they had been very near a quarrel. And afterwards she had said that what the blackmailer wanted wasn't money, but something dreadful. One of those gate-crashing thoughts got in a word here With perfect succinctness it observed, "He might have wanted her to put that envelope in your pocket."

She could have done it, and she was the only one who could have done it. He had known that all along. She could have done it in the taxi. She could have done it at the Ducks and Drakes. And she could have done it without any risk...He had a good deal of difficulty in keeping his mind on his work.

* * *

When he went out to lunch he telephoned Gay. The conversation did not take quite the line he had intended. He had meant to be polite and a little detached. Unfortunately it was not Gay who came to the telephone. The voice which said "Who is it?" was the kind of voice that takes the chair at public meetings He could picture it addressing a conference of head mistresses. It recalled painful interviews with an aunt who had been a strong believer in corporal punishment for the young.

He said, "Can I speak to Miss Gay Hardwicke?" and was rather proud of himself for having the courage.

The voice called "Gay!" on a ringing note, and Gay arrived rather breathless from the stairs

Algy was too much relieved to be aloof.

Gay said, "Oh, it's you?" And then, "That was Aunt Agatha. What is it?"

The sound of her voice did something to the gate-crashers. They cast sickly looks at one another, and got into corners.

Algy said, "Come out tonight, Gay—will you? I want to talk to you."

Gay had promised to dine at home with Aunt Agatha and some of her committee, but agreed to meet Algy afterwards.

By half past nine when Algy came for her Gay was more than ready to drag herself away from an earnest committee which had been talking about executions for an hour and a half.

"You've no idea how grim. I'm converted absolutely, but I simply couldn't have listened to them for another minute. I feel as if I'd gone pale green all over."

"The bits I can see are all right," said Algy, as the light of a street-lamp slid over them.

She came closer and slipped a hand through his arm.

"Where are we going? I want to have my mind distracted."

"Would you mind awfully if it were the Ducks and Drakes again?"

"No. Why?"

"I'll tell you later on."

But at first they danced. And then the floor show went on

When it was over Algy said, "Do you mind if we talk now?" and Gay said, "No," and then, wondered if she had been a fool, and a fool to come out with him. She threw a quick look at him and found him serious, panicked a little, and said quickly, "There's that Mr. Danvers who was with the Wessex-Gardners the other night."

* * *

Algy was already aware of Mr. Danvers. He had, in fact, come here in the hope of seeing Mr. Danvers, who appeared to be an habitue.

He said casually, "Oh, yes, he's often here, I believe. Do you know him?"

"Not really. I met him here the other night."

"Did you dance with him?"

She made a little face.

"Once."

"And what do you think of him?"

"Oh, I hated him," said Gay cheerfully.

"Do you mind telling me why?"

"I'd love to tell you why. I've been waiting to let off steam ever since.

"Why, what did he do?"

"He didn't do anything. He looked over the top of my head and told me how he had made a steel combine toe the line."

Algy burst out laughing

"My poor child! I'm afraid I can't break his head for that."

"No—it's a pity, isn't it? And when he had finished about the steel combine he began about a gas corporation—he's got a tame one that eats out of his hand. And he rolls in wealth, but he's very careful about girls—not to give them any encouragement, you know."

"Can you look me in the eye and swear he told you that?"

"No, darling. That was Poppy Wessex-Gardner. Being kind, you know, so that I shouldn't have any false hopes raised through being danced with and having heart-to-heart confidences about gas. And I said, 'Oh, no, Mrs. Wessex-Gardner,' and 'Oh, yes, Mrs. Wessex-Gardner,' and looked meek, and my old black dress helped a lot, so she thawed a little and let me off with a caution instead of sending for the court executioner and saying 'Off with her head!'"

"My child, you have."

"I know I do. It's Aunt Agatha's capital punishment people." Her voice changed suddenly "Why do you want to know about Mr. Danvers, and what do you want to know about Mr. Danvers?"

Algy leaned nearer and said, in a low, direct voice.

"I want to know whether he's your blackmailer, Gay."

"Why should he be?" she asked. And then, "I haven't got a blackmailer. Don't call him mine!" After which she took breath and said in a serious voice. "Algy, what on earth do you mean?"

* * *

Algy did not answer at once. He took time to look at Gay, time to be sure that he trusted her, time to tell himself that he had been a fool.

He said at last, "When we were here the other night something was slipped into one of my pockets, and I'm wondering who did it. You asked me what I would do if someone tried to blackmail me, and then you were angry because I thought you meant that someone was blackmailing you. I wish you'd tell me the rest"

"There isn't any more, and if there were, I couldn't tell you. What did you find in your pocket—a love letter?"

"Something that had been stolen."

"Algy, what is it? Do tell me."

He shook his head.

"I can't You'll probably hear about it—there's a considerable amount of chat going on. But I'd rather you didn't say anything about the envelope being put into my pocket"

She caught her breath and opened her lips to speak, but didn't speak. She was remembering something, and trying not to remember it.

Algy said quickly, "What is it, Gay?" and she said nothing. And then, "Why should anyone put an envelope in your pocket?"

Algy leaned an elbow on the table.

"I think someone had the kind thought that my room might be searched, and that it might be found there. Fortunately I found it myself."

Gay leaned over the table too

"Algy—how horrid! Who could possibly—"

"That's what I'm going to find out."

She spoke quickly.

"You're not—in any trouble? It's not—it's not serious?"

"It might be"

"How?" The word was rather breathless.

He looked away from her because it was dangerous to be so near, to see her eyes so soft and anxious—for him.

THURSDAY APRIL 14 1938.

Those dissatisfied Indians were quickly quieted by a threat to give the country back to them.

This is the kind of Spring weather that should attract tourists to Ohio from all over the country.

More than five hundred Russian farmers were shot last year because they had crop failures—a dictator's way of encouraging efficiency.

No State Money for West Fourth? Why?

BADLY-NEEDED repaving of West Fourth street appears to again be subjected to delay through withdrawal of what was regarded as an agreement that half the cost of improvement would be paid by the state highway department.

It is now suggested by John J. Jaster, state highway director, that the proposed improvement be handled as a WPA project and that application be made for federal funds to carry it through.

Just why this section of such a widely-used traffic highway as 30-North should be regarded as ineligible to participate in the state highway improvement program is not made clear.

Aside from the fact that Mansfield motorists make large contributions to state highway department funds through payment of gasoline taxes, this particular stretch of street is much used by transient passenger car and truck traffic and it is entirely reasonable to assume that responsibility for its proper upkeep should not rest entirely on the city of Mansfield.

Before accepting as final the decision of the state highway department to wash its hands of obligation in connection with the West Fourth street improvement it might be well to inquire more deeply into reasons for such a decision.

Dogs That Bite Children.

AMONG the customary spring items are those devoted to mention of police receiving reports of children being bitten by dogs, with the usual notation, "the owner was ordered to tie up the dog."

Ordinarily the time for which the "tie-up" is ordered is ten days, which covers the period in which a dog might disclose symptoms of rabies.

It appears, however, that such handling of cases of biting dogs is rather inadequate in a city and that children and adults are entitled to better protection against injury than is afforded by temporarily tying up a vicious animal.

The owner of a dog is, of course, legally liable for any injury to a person, or damage to property, that is done by the dog, but even this does not help greatly—as the law is seldom resorted to in such cases.

Systematic co-operation between the county dog warden and the city police department might be made effective in reducing the menace and nuisance created by dogs that are permitted to run loose.

Workers Must Feed the Hungry.

RELIEF PROBLEMS, to which much public and official attention has been given during the current depression, are not new—nor are they temporary.

Present emphasis on the subject results from an unbalance of employment and unemployment that came about through the depression which threw millions of men and women out of jobs.

Under more normal conditions, the percentage of those who worked and produced, was large enough to provide a surplus of earnings sufficient to supply essentials of life for the smaller percentage who were unable to support themselves.

When it is said: "The hungry must be fed," it is naturally assumed that food, and other necessaries of living, will be provided from the surplus earnings of others who have been more fortunate in accumulating beyond their own reasonable needs.

Earlier attempts by the federal government to supplant local agencies in dealing with relief proved costly and unsatisfactory, because of inability to adapt a national program to community conditions.

Whether individual earning power is small or large—the real problem in the United States is to bring about the widest possible distribution of remunerative employment to men and women capable of doing some kind of necessary work, so that there will be a sufficient surplus to care for the needy without placing an excessive burden on workers.

Past and present tremendous government spending of borrowed money must be regarded either as a frightful waste of public funds or as a trend toward further spread of unemployment and poverty among those who should be privileged to work and earn.

Overproduction of Laws.

STATE legislatures in 1937 enacted 17,194 new laws. That is a good many laws, but it might have been worse. There were 37,000 other bills introduced, which were either voted down by legislators or vetoed by governors.

Fortunately for the public not all the new laws create new crimes. Some of them are merely enabling acts to make administrative agencies more efficient. Even so, there are too many. Citizens can't keep track of so many laws, yet "ignorance of the law" is not excusable and it is only through popular understanding and support that any law can be enforced.

It would be better to have fewer laws, need for which is clearly indicated, and then give them the backing that would make them useful.

Spend and Destroy.

NOW comes the proposal from an automobile manufacturer for the government to spend $100,000,000 buying up and scrapping 1,000,000 old automobiles, on the theory that the automobile industry employs one out of every seven persons, directly or indirectly.

The idea is no different than paying farmers for not raising crops, plowing under cotton, destroying young pigs, buying surplus farm crops, etc. But it's pretty hard for the older school, who were taught to "save and produce," to get used to the new idea of "spend and destroy."

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

REORGANIZATION of governmental departments is certain to occur. That is the view of even business interests. But they do not desire President Roosevelt to do it.

Whether the government structure can wait until he is out of office, however, is a question.

In the furious 1940 election campaign, in which everything from peanuts to religion will be flung at the candidates, an effort will be made to elect a "safe" man Then, reorganization will be made on even a broader scale than contemplated by the professors who drew up the Roosevelt plan.

The same sort of revolt has occurred in France. Economic powers demanded by the liberal Blum were refused by the conservative senate — which, however, may grant dictatorial powers to the conservative dictatorial Daladier.

* * *

SAME FORCES

As much as folk in the United States dread to discuss the matter, the same forces are at work in the United States as in the remainder of the world. Liberalism is battling for its life—battling for its life because its opponents paint it, not themselves, as the demon. And the opponents of liberalism have economic misery on their side.

Such is the view of the liberals But, they contend, there is hope in the United States and Great Britain. Why? Because, they answer capitalism has seen that a dictatorship of the middle class, even as a dictatorship of the proletariat, eventually confiscates property.

But democracies function badly in meeting economic crises. And economic crises, unless met with strongly concentrated governmental powers, may develop into collapse of the democratic governments into a totalitarian form of government with the loss of all liberties, by business as well as individuals. See Cermany, Austria, Italy—and soon Japan and Spain and whatever other countries are captured or fall into this terrible chasm.

* * *

REGULATION

Professor Calvin B. Hoover of Duke university, in his excellent book, "Dictators and Democracies," remarks:

"The typical parliamentary government of a capitalist state . . . is organized primarily to preserve the elementary framework of property and contract within which the economy of the capitalistic system can operate. At a pinch it can do a job of regulating some part of the economy. The thing for which it most decidedly is not organized, is to carry on economic activity itself. This can be seen most plainly in the organization of the government of the United States. Our dual federal and state system of government, our doctrine of the separation of powers, of checks and balances, is indeed well designed to prevent a president from attempting to attain the purpic, but it could not have been better designed to render our government ineffective as an administrative organization for carrying on economic activity. In a lesser degree this is true of other parliamentary governments also."

It is a paradox, that in order to save parliamentary government (democracy), it may be necessary to give the executive branch broad economic powers.

As it is, congress gives the president billions to spend, but there is no authorization for economic and social reforms, without which the billions may plunge the nation into that terrible chasm with the other nations—and all liberty lost.

President Roosevelt failed to take his chance in 1933. As was pointed out by this column at that time, he took the road that seemed easier. The rockier road would have made him less popular in the succeeding few years, but today he would be the leader of a staunch people. And democracy would not be at stake.

Businessmen will find this truer, in retrospect, than anyone else, for to them the change is greater than to anyone else. The change that comes when previous logical change has been stopped. Each nation suffers a different reaction, but a reaction there is. Ask the moderate Germans, if you can find any who dare answer.

Timely Editorial

Everybody's Hunt.

When persecution starts there is no telling where it will stop. It is easy to say, "This is not my hunt," but if injustice succeeds today against someone else, it may strike me tomorrow. Rightly understood, the problem of persecuted minorities is everybody's hunt.

It is in this light that the efforts of the American Jewish Joint Distribution committee is properly seen. In its work of rescuing victims of persecution in Central Europe, it is conducting a test case on behalf of the democracies. The technique of persecution is to forbid Jews to earn their livings or to leave the country. The alternative is slow starvation. For cold ferocity this is hard to equal. Money, food, clothes, medicines and shelter are the main requisites for rescue, and although large amounts have been sent, the need is still great.

Cruelty to the defenseless is the worst possible curve on the fever chart of a civilization. It means that the patient is on the down grade. And although all persecution is stupid, persecution of the Jews by nations which have been the beneficiaries of their culture for twenty centuries is a combination of matricide with parricide.—Boston Globe.

AN OLD CHINESE "JAR"!

Public Works Program Vs. Dole

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON— The national administration seems to be shifting from a policy of direct relief to a greatly increased public works program, as an economic stimulant.

Direct relief (aims, in short) cannot be abandoned entirely, but the thought is to pare it down as much as possible, with a view of something more constructive.

The theory is all right. A dole amounts to outright charity, which is destructive to the morale of its recipients. It is o. k., however, for a worker to accept pay for his actual effort, put into a government development; he considers himself no more a dependent than does a congressman or a governor or a mayor, for being on the public payroll.

* * *

DIRECT RELIEF QUICKER

Direct relief is a bit quicker in its effect than the other system.

The relief-ees all get their money at once and spend it immediately, putting that much cash into almost instant circulation.

Public projects require considerable preliminary planning, while the workers wait. Moreover, the managers of a public project do not expend all their funds in spot wages. First they must pay for raw material, for the project's employes to work with. True, the raw materials' producers are benefited; the thing evens up in the long run. Nevertheless, the method is slightly more indirect than direct relief.

* * *

"DOLE" HAS MANY FAULTS

Direct relief's faults are:

1. The relief-ees are pauperized, to have been on relief brings terrible humiliation forever thereafter to some.

2. There shortly is nothing to show for it.

Public works, once created, are an asset. If private capital erects, for example, a profitable office building, its community is richer for it—not out of pocket for the money that went into it. Or if a community puts in a municipal waterworks that community counts itself wealthier.

But what a county spends on its paupers—that's over the dam.

* * *

LET UNCLE SAM DO IT!

So it appears that governmental enterprises (whether federal, statewide, municipal or otherwise local) should be what are known as self-liquidating.

But the minute that they become evidently self-liquidating, private capital wants to attend to them.

Let a proposition show signs of inability to pay and private capital is willing enough to abandon it to Uncle Sam. Illustratively, flying fields are unremunerative. They're numerously needed. But no locality is disposed to foot the bill for one—it's Uncle Samuel's business to do it.

CONTROL WELCOMED?

The railroads are almost showing signs of a willingness to accept governmentalization.

Electrical power openly admits that it is prepared to do so—on its own financial terms.

Other public services and industries may follow.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

No Encouragement Here.

By ERIK M. ERIKSSON
Professor of History, University of Southern California.

One of the features of the New Deal which has proved discouraging to business has been the great extension of governmental competition.

Perhaps some of this competition has been justified but in certain instances it can properly be described as unfair. Particularly has this been true of the activities of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

About two years ago, the supreme court, with only one justice dissenting, ruled that surplus electricity produced at Wilson dam could legally be disposed of by the TVA. The court accepted the contention of the government's attorneys that the chief purpose of the dam was to improve navigation and to promote the national defense while the production of electricity was merely incidental.

In accepting this contention the justices ignored what even the directors of the TVA had publicly admitted—that the Authority was intended to carry on an experiment in planning which could be applied on a national scale and that it was to develop a "yardstick" for measuring the cost of producing hydro-electric power.

Following this decision, eighteen utility companies sought an injunction against the whole TVA, alleging that the federal corporation was operating what was "primarily a mammoth power business," which, through its low rates, would render the property of the utilities worthless without due process of law. A hearing was begun before a three judge federal court at Chattanooga in November, 1937. After several months, the court returned a verdict denying the injunction.

The lower court followed the example of the supreme court in ignoring realities and in accepting the statements in the TVA legislation at face value. All the TVA dams, the verdict declared, "are planned, as shown by the official TVA reports and are required under the statutes, to be employed as an integrated, coordinated system for the combined purpose of navigation, flood control, power and national defense."

Since the TVA "is not exceeding its statutory power, and since the statute is constitutional," the Authority's competition with the private utilities "is lawful," the court concluded. The companies "have no immunity from lawful competition, even if their business be curtailed or destroyed."

This was a most extraordinary decision. It means that the federal government, by merely professing to engage in a legitimate function, may engage in the most unfair competition with private business and industry, even to the extent of destroying the latter.

This decision, coupled with a unanimous supreme court decision early in January of this year validating PWA grants and loans to municipalities, make the future for the private utilities appear very discouraging.

So long as municipalities can receive grants for forty-five per cent, and then borrow from the PWA the remainder of the cost of plants through which to distribute TVA electricity in competition with private companies, the latter cannot hope to survive. Apparently the thousands of persons who hold stock in the utility companies of the southeast will be left holding the sack.

Under the circumstances, private utility companies can hardly be blamed for not engaging in a great expansion program. The administration would be pleased to see such a program inaugurated as an aid to economic recovery but the utilities are hardly likely to risk anything in the face of "lawful" but unfair government competition.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

There are times when we like to meet enthusiastic men — and there are other times when we are just as anxious to get away from them.

Listen, World!

He Chose to Suffer.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THIS white mystery of Lent! A young God dying for the world He loved—and I remember the first time they told me of it.

Those who told me were old. So old that the story had lost its reality. The Cross was a vague picture—the words were only pious sounds. Nothing happened in them any more when they heard those sounds.

But I was young. Everything was sharply new and true to me. And, with their muttering, the horrid came alive. I saw it all—the white young body sagging from the nails, the dripping blood, the poor head lolling under awful thorns.

Suddenly I was screaming, sobbing, crying out that they musn't—musn't—do that dreadful thing! No! No! And then the old people were leading me out clucking compassionately, their kindly, stupid eyes half smiling at my "childishness."

I wish I had some of that childishness now. I wish I could see that picture as I saw it then, as those terrified watchers on Golgotha saw it, not blurred by time or tradition, but piercing plain.

For I need the lesson of that courage. The whole world needs it. We have forgotten that part of the story. Perhaps we have been so absorbed in the divine miracle of sacrifice and resurrection. But, whatever the reason, that vision of a plain workingman's sheer courage has become dimmed. And never was that vision so important.

That a man should do that! Choose to die by such ghastly torture, deliberately—when he could, with a word, have freed himself. A young man who hankered for the lusty, simple things of life. The feel of warm green grass beneath his naked feet. The sting of cold, salt spray along his hard, brown arms. The taste of fine, fat fish, just taken from the net, "broiled in a little fire on the beach."

A man who liked good work and hearty play. A wedding supper bright with happiness. The fit of straight hewn timbers, or a well hung door. A man who laughed and wept like other men. Loved babies. Maybe had a dog! And felt the comfort of a friendly tree—

A man like that, who must have hated sickness, dreaded pain—and yet He chose the ghastly torture of the cross!

To die by crucifixion—even the smallest child knew what that ordeal meant. Golgotha was a place of public spectacle. Thieves died up there, and common murderers. Most shameful and most hideous of deaths!

Doubtless, at some time, he had caught a sickening glimpse. Seen men hung, screeching through long, sagging hours. Watched joints yanked from their sockets, muscles ripped from bone—heard the slow drip of blood from sword-pierced sides. Remembered, for black nights, the last, long rattling gasp.

He must have known. And yet—he chose to die! Hating, as men must hate, the very thought of pain, his sick flesh fighting furiously against his ruthless will.

"Let this cup pass . . . if it be possible; let this cup pass!" So He had cried, in black Gethsemane—until his sweat went red in agony.

Such courage—how we need it now. Life has been made so soft, too soft and safe. Torture's no longer something to be sought, or even honored. Pain, to the modern, is the penalty of ignorance. Wise men escape all "stupid suffering" and seek some "saner" way to prove their bravery.

So—in this twentieth century—bravery goes unproved. And something passed from our heritage. Some stout essential of both flesh and soul for which smart words and clever deeds cannot be substituted.

He, too, could easily have found a "saner" way. Good reasons—plenty!—why a young man should not die. Old Joseph's need — or gentle Mary's love. Or his own value in the ranks of Israel.

And yet he walked unflinching to his doom. Uncringing, bared His young back to the lash . . . and bowed His forehead to the crown of thorns.

He spilled His blood to wash away our sins. God grant His courage purge our cowardice."

THERE may be a fortune awaiting you if you can suggest to the Hollywood moguls some idea for a new cycle of pictures. All pictures run in cycles, you know, and the old ones are about done for. The crazy comedies which started with "My Man Godfrey" are about done for and big musical films are on the wane. Jungle locations have been thoroughly exploited, largely by Dorothy Lamour, and the Old South has been pretty well taken care of in "Jezebel." "The Toy Wife," the earlier "So Red The Rose," and the yet-to-come Margaret Mitchell saga. The prison theme is on the rampage now, what with "Over The Wall," "Condemned Woman." "Escape From Leavenworth and "Ten Days of Heaven." Paramount may touch off a new series with "Men With Wings," which will be followed by M-G-M's "Test Pilot."

Debonair Rascal.

Frances Lederer is a gay debonair rascal in "The Lone Wolf In Paris," a romantic comedy with thrills, which is being shown at the Madison. Lederer plays Michael Lanyard, a reckless but skillful thief who is hunted by all of the police of Europe. Several pictures ago this Louis Joseph Vance character was shown pulling a masterful coup and then disappearing into obscurity. In "The Lone Wolf Returns," he came back but turned honest. He makes a valiant effort to follow the straight and narrow path in this latest picture, but three valuable crown jewels, which are being sought by a troubled princess, tempts him once more to follow his old trade. Frances Drake heads the supporting cast.

Pleasant Retaliation.

When a fresh hotel clerk insults Pat Malloy, veteran vaudevillian, he does what most people would like to do—buy the hotel just to have the satisfaction of firing the clerk. Only Pat used his life saving for the retaliation, and it looked for a while as though he would lose it all. But his former vaudeville friends come to the rescue—supposedly—and practically complete the ruin of the Malloy nest egg. A trick ending leaves Pat and his scrapping Molly a lot nearer their dream of owning a little farm. It all happens in "Goodbye Broadway" which brings Charles Winninger, Alice Brady, Tommy Riggs, Tom Brown, Frank Jenks and Dorothea Kent to the Ohio for the last half of the week. The talent quest revue will be presented between the first and second evening shows tonight.

Jackie Grows Up.

A Jackie Cooper who is growing up is found in "Boy of the Streets," a timely picture subject dealing with delinquents who came from bad environments. Jackie is a product of New York's tenement district, with a political stooge for a father, and he himself develops into a leader of a gang of hoodlums. His awakening to a decency inherited from his mother comes in a dramatic climax. An historical film, "Heroes of the Alamo," picturing the birth of Texas, is the second feature at the Majestic for Friday and Saturday. In the roles of national heroes are Lane Chandler, Rex Lease, Ruth Findlay and Edward Piel.

Marital or Martial?

Running away from love is all right if you're sure you're being followed, and it is on this sage advise that Gloria Stuart acts in "The Lady Escapes," a Ritz theater attraction. Michael Whalen is seen in the role of the pursuer. When this marital couple finds that the word should be spelled "martial" instead, they agree to disagree and separate, but find out that they couldn't run away from love. There is a hilarious search by them for a second husband for the wife. Besides this rough house romance there is a Gene Autry melody-thriller, "The Old Barn Dance." This is one of the last pictures the popular singing cowboy made for Republic before his break with the company.

'Nutty' Family to Furnish Laughs In Play at Bowman

When the Buckingham Players present a stage comedy at the auditorium of the Bowman street school next Tuesday evening, it will bring to the audience one of the maddest, merriest families of the contemporary American theater.

"High Presser Homer," which is being directed by Mrs. Ethel Woodworth as a WPA project, introduces the Woodruff family who are fully as nutty, if not so well known, as the Sycamores of "You Can't Take It With You."

Bruce Brandon who wrote the play readily admits that the characters are real people, that he visited the family on several occasions and the first time found them so wild and bewildering that he decided to go back again equipped with a pencil and note-book. He had to go to bed for a day after each visit.

Every member of the family had a hobby or were delightfully absorbed in some goofy idea, Brandon recalls. But they were lovable folks and after he wrote the play he found audiences laughing with them rather than at them.

The cast is made up of a group of young Mansfield amateur players, among them Elizabeth Cole, Philip Shettz, Harry Scott, Winifred Dodge, Evadene Barber, Marjorie Underwood, Ruth Miller, Miss Lockmeyer, Norma Underwood, Henry Niedhammer, Lloyd Beal, Harold Boliantz and Mary Henry.

The production is being sponsored by the Bowman school Parent-Teachers association.

ONLY HALF PAID

$25,000 Still Due on Water Bills, Deadline Saturday.

With only half of the current water and sewer rental bills paid to date and the deadline two days away, offices of the municipal water, sewer and garbage department in the city building will remain open until 3 p. m. Saturday, Fred A Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments, announced today.

Lingafelter estimated that 50 per cent of the 10,000 water and sewer rental bills were still outstanding. The collection was scheduled to close tomorrow. Only $25,000 of the $50,000 due has been paid and as a result, the water department office will remain open Saturday afternoon to receive late payments, Lingafelter said.

Of the $25,000 still outstanding, approximately $13,000 represents water and $6,000 sewer rental charges. He warned that failure to make payment of the bill by Saturday will result in a penalty charge of 10 per cent after that date.

Book of the Week

"WHAT PEOPLE SAID," by W. L. White; (Viking: $2.75.)

* * *

William Allen White, who has made the Emporia, Kas., Gazette one of the most quoted and best known small daily papers in the world, has a son. The son's name is W. L. White, but everybody in Emporia and several other places calls him Bill.

Bill White has lived the life you might expect the son of William Allen White to live. He has seen a good deal of the world, has decided not to take over his father's paper, apparently.

He is now on the staff of Fortune, and he has employed himself otherwise at writing a novel called "What People Said."

He says on the proper page that he has not "attempted or intended a portrait of any actual person, living or dead." This is, perhaps, true in a literal sense, but it is an evasion. For Young Bill has put most of Emporia into the book in rather a nice way. Not excepting his parents and himself

The book is written around a financial scandal. Emporia (and all of Kansas) had a scandal extraordinarily like it not long ago. The author shows not only the scandal and the results it had, but how it could have happened. The reader comes to know the men responsible almost too well—the book's only serious fault is its inordinate length. There are 614 pages when 300 would have been quite enough.

The lines of character are drawn surely, however, and that is oddly enough true in the case of Young Bill himself, called Junior in the book. Not unexpectedly, Junior's father is the least clear of any principal character; there are literally dozens of small parts which have a more ponderable impact, if a shorter life. But the theme of the book, which is to demonstrate the course and effect of a fault in a given social stratum, is sharply and cleanly managed except when it is lost in a fog of words.

It must be added that these words are superfluous, but not in the Wolfish sense. Wolfe writes too many words about too few actions; White includes too many small thoughts and actions, and too many characters.

This is obviously a book that has been boiling in Young Bill's mind since the Emporia bond scandal. It is out, now, and a good job. One wonders how Emporia will take it.

Homemakers who attend the cooking school come away more convinced than ever that gas is the finest modern kitchen fuel. They see the advantages of gas demonstrated many times — advantages of speed, cleanliness, convenience and economy that establish gas as the popular choice for kitchens of today.

For Care-Free Kitchen Happiness

Insist On A Tappan Gas Range

Miss Chambers heartily recommends using gas in the kitchen and is enthusiastic about the new Tappan Gas Range. You, too, would be enthusiastic about a Tappan if you had one in your kitchen. You would particularly appreciate the improved cooking methods offered by the Tappan giant-size vitamin saver burners, which make possible "waterless" cooking. Then there are such important features as enlarged divided cooking top, Flexo-Speed oven burner, Clean-Quick Smokeless broiler, ample storage space and others. After attending The News-Journal Food Fashion Revue you'll want to visit The Gas Company and find out for yourself why so many housewives prefer the Tappan gas range.

The 1938 Tappan Gas Range comes in a variety of styles priced to meet your budget. Special low introductory prices offer savings as much as $20.00 on the new Utopia model, shown above. Convenient payments may be arranged.

tion for each American on reaching 21 and invited the audience to help celebrate Rev. Millar's 100th birthday anniversary on June 1, 1940.

Urging the new citizens to "think for yourselves," Judge Huston recommended that they choose carefully the candidates they support for office and not vote for a man "because someone tells you to."

He congratulated the group as being "the kind of citizens the country is glad to welcome.

"Citizenship is for those who live decent lives," he said.

Correll invited the audience to participate in the city's observance on May 2 of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Northwest territory.

"You will see local history re-enacted along with numerous events that had much to do with the building of our nation," he asserted.

The 30 guests were presented with small flags by the Women's Relief corps, while the Jared Mansfield chapter of Daughters of American Revolution gave them booklets on "Citizenship."

Mrs. Harry Constance of the Women's Relief corps presided during the program, which included several piano numbers and a tap dance. Refreshments were served after the program.

Names of the new citizens are: Margaretta Jona, Stefo P. Georgeofsky, Roy MacDowall, Karl Graszl, A. P. Campbell, Edith Bebout, Adam Schambre, Gruio Mihailoff, Lucia Margallo, Mary Miller, Anna Mayer, Barbara Hoff, Katherine Schmidt, Paul Zacharias, Caroline Seifert, John G. Torski, Charles T. gineer and if possible a representative from the Lincoln Highway association, to may plans of carrying the fight to Columbus.

Hunter differed with K. L. Rothermund, chief engineer of the state department, in charge of location and design, who had charged yesterday that the Mansfield proposal was irregular, and had not been previously submitted to the state highway department.

The mayor contended the city had taken the West Fourth street project up with the state as far back as 1935, and asserted that in that yar, a program similar to the one rejected by the state yesterday had been approved by department planning engineers.

Objection of property owners, to widening of the roadway, now not a factor, prevented the start of the work, Hunter said.

A letter from F. L. Hopley of Bucyrus, Ohio counsel for the Lincoln Highway association, (Route 30, the Lincoln highway passes over West Fourth street) to Mayor Hunter promised the association's support in the city's campaign for the improvement of the street.

Hopley said he had received numerous complaints concerning the condition of the street, and asserted that a recent traffic chack had shown that 5,084 cars had used the street in a 24-hour period, with 34 per cent of them out of state cars, the highest percentage of travel of that type on any highway in the state.

how to order the cuts of meat they want and how to avoid those impish splinters of bone that crop up at embarrassing moments.

One of the most interesting phases of today's session was the dishwashing race between the old-fashioned methods and the new electric washer.

The contest was staged by Miss Katherine Slusser and Mrs. Ruth Buel, both of the Westinghouse Institute, with J. Gilbert Baird of Westinghouse acting as starter and judges, as well as commentator. Miss Slusser worked with the modern method, putting the dishes in the electric dishwasher, while Mrss. Buel struggled along with the sink and dishpan, and of course, coming out a poor second in the race. The race demonstrated quite clearly that dishpans are as hard on the dishes as the disposition.

The school closes tomorrow and Miss Chambers has reserved some of her best recipes and demonstrations for the final day. The largest crowd of the entire school is expected.

START WORK ON SHELBY PROJECT

SHELBY—Shelby's $5,510 WPA project for the codification of the city ordinances and other clerical work got under way today at city hall with approximately eight persons employed, city officials said.

The project is set so that the city will pay $550 for rental and materials and WPA will furnish $4,960 for labor. Additional persons will be given work later, city officials stated.

COMPLETE WORK

SHELBY — Work will be completed this week on laying approximately two and one-half miles of tile on the $25,000 storm sewer program in this city. The cost of the project is estimated by Guy McClane, street department supervisor, in charge of the program, at $19,000.

The work started last December and had employed nearly 125 men, for a total of 25,000 man-hours of work. No men have lost time due to accidents.

PRESIDENT ASKS $4,512,000,000 PUMP PRIMING

Lending-Spending-Credit Plan Outlined to Congress in Special Message.

B Public Works Administration	350 000 000
C. U. S Housing Administration	300 000 000
Totals .. ..$	950 000 000

On the basis of lending-spending data contained in the message and assuming that all RFC and other loans are repaid, the actual ultimate cost to the treasury would be approximately $612,000,000 beyond recovery and relief figures budgeted in January, 1938, for the next fiscal year plus whatever sum may be required to care for the unemployed from Feb. 1, 1939 to July 1. The $1,250,000,000 WPA appropriation would be for expenditure during the first seven months of the next fiscal year up to Feb. 1.

But the administration is confident of a better treasury showing than that. It is expected that this shot-in-the-arm for business during the next fiscal year will increase the industrial turnover, hike the national income and raise federal revenue sharply above current averages.

ESTATE SUED

Action Threatens $500,000 Left by Bishop Brown.

BUCYRUS — The half-million dollar estate left by the late Bishop W. M. Brown of Galion was threatened today by a suit filed in Crawford county probate court, questioning the distribution of the estate of the late bishop's wife after her death.

Filed by Mrs. Una Scranton Hammond, North Olmstead, an heir of Mrs. Brown, the action asks modification of the court order which in 1936 gave Mrs. Brown's estate to her husband. Hearing on the application has been set for May 10 before Probate Judge Constance Keller.

The suit seeks a new determination of the heirs of Mrs. Brown and a re-distribution of her estate which was merged with that of Bishop Brown. The petition contends that Mrs. Mary S. Bradford, now deecased, was entitled to Mrs Brown's estate since she had adopted her.

It was predicted that any court decision on the matter would affect the will of the deposed bishop, who left a large portion of his estate to the Communist party following his death last October.

Her Vote Costs State $50

—Inter. Ill. News Photo.

Of all the votes cast in Illinois' primary, first of the 48 states, that of Mrs. Irene Polacek probably was the most expensive and unusual Mrs. Polacek is the only voter in the 51st precinct of Chicago's 20th ward and she voted in her own home where she is shown casting her ballot. To record the Polacek vote the taxpayers had to hand out $8 apiece for four election judges and a clerk and $10 to Mrs. Polacek for the use of her apartment as a polling place.

REA TO FIGHT 'SPITE LINES'

Orders Immediate Erection of Rural Power System in Norwalk Area.

Immediate construction of rural power lines in the Norwalk area under an REA project which eventually will serve parts of Huron, Richland and Ashland counties, was authorized today by rural electrification officials to "provide protection against alleged spite lines of a private power company."

In a United Press dispatch to The News-Journal from Washington, REA officials said regular authorization, which normally follows approval of bids and contract negotiations, would be waived in this case to permit the Firelands Electric Co-operative of Norwalk to compete with the Ohio Power company in construction of rural lines.

Workmen already have begun setting poles in Huron county under the $100,000 REA proect, but Harry Miller, Richland county farm bureau field man, said an additional $100,000 federal grant must be made if farmers in this county are to benefit from the lines.

The Firelands co-operative recently signed a contract with the Norwalk municipal power plant to obtain current for rural lines in the Norwalk district.

In a statement to Firelands co-operative members, REA officials said: "The Ohio Power company, which recently acquired the Lake Erie Power company, suddenly began preparations to build lines to serve one of the richest parts of your proect. If the power company had succeeded in building lines in that section, the feasibility of your entire proect might have been seriously affected."

A Farmer's Diary

April 13.

YESTERDAY I traveled south to a little town below Columbus It was a beautiful day of spring I felt the cool tang of morning breeze and caught the fragrance of dewy fields of sod and wheat.

The distance from my home is not more than 100 miles yet the growth of trees, shrubs and flowers is at least one week ahead of us. Along the road we saw a peach orchard pink with bloom—the pear and plum stood white against the landscape. The juniper, a creamy top of flowers, made pleasant contrast with the drab forests of oak, hickory and beech. Some apple and willow trees that grew in moist and sheltered places looked green as in the summer.

The magnolia trees in city lawns and gardens showed their large petals of pink and white; some bracks that protected the outer buds had already fallen to the ground. The lilac boasted stems with leaves four inches long. Peonies were a foot high. Spring beauties, windflowers and blue and yellow violets made pleasant colorings among sparse and tender grass of the woods.

The bird life was more abundant, since the storm of ice and snow was not a menace this far south. I saw the first swallows of the year perch on wires along the highway or fly with open mouth close to the grassy fields. The bobolink with coat of black and white, flew happily about the meadows singing in the air. I thought I saw a scarlet tanager hiding in a forest thicket.

Farmers were busy sowing clover seed in wheat fields, plowing for oats or breaking sod for corn. New-made gardens were everywhere.

It is hard to realize that two or three hours travel can show so great a change of season.

BUFFET LUNCH IDEAS ON FINAL FOOD PROGRAM

Cooking School Lecturer to Offer Suggestions That'll Be Boon to Any Hostess.

A buffet luncheon platter that will establish the reputation of any hostess is on the list of suggestions for gala occasions that will be included in the closing session tomorrow of The News-Journal's cooking school at the Ohio theater.

Miss Ruth Chambers, who had demonstrated during her stay here as director of the school that she knows her veal cutlets as well as her onions, will include several interesting dishes on her Friday menu, among them a tricky dish in which a cabbage head is stuffed with a meat combination and steamed. Then there is a Porto Rican roast and butterfly pork chops—but here's the list in detail:

SOVEREIGN LOIN ROAST OF PORK

Purchase a 3 to 5 pound pork loin roast. Wipe meat with a damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper and place in an open roasting pan with the fat side up. Insert a roast-meat thermometer into the center of the fleshiest part of the meat, taking care that the bulb does not rest on either fat or bone. Place the roast in a moderate oven (350° F) and roast until done, without covering and without adding any water. When the roast-meat thermometer registers 185° F, the meat will be done. Allow about 30 minutes per pound for roasting. Serves 6

BITTERSWEET RIBBON CAKE

3 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup lard
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs and 2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 squares chocolate
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup water
½ teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons lard

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together. Cream lard thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add well beaten eggs. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Combine chocolate, sugar, water, soda and lard. Heat until chocolate is melted. Cool slightly. Turn a generous one-third of the batter into a 9-inch layer pan lined with wax paper. Add chocolate mixture to remaining batter, stirring until thoroughly blended. Turn into two lined 9-inch layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F) for 30 minutes, or until done. Serves 16.

Chocolate 7-Minute Icing.

3 egg whites
2½ cups sugar
7½ tablespoons water
2 tablespoons white corn syrup
1½ teaspoons vanilla
5 squares chocolate

Combine egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water, add vanilla. Cool. Melt chocolate and cool. Fold chocolate into cooled frosting. Do not beat mixture. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of three 9-inch layers.

GEFULLTER KOHL KOPF

1 large head cabbage
1 pound ground lamb shoulder
2 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup milk
1 egg
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon coriander

Select a flat wide head of cabbage and with a sharp knife remove the top. Hollow out as much as possible to make a large shell for the meat filling. Brown the lamb in the hot fat, stirring constantly. Add the flour and work in well, then the milk, egg, crumbs and seasonings. Pack into the cabbage. Replace the top and tie firmly together. Place on a rack in a deep kettle with a small amount of water. Cook slowly about 1 to 1½ hours or until the cabbage is tender when tested with a fork. Serve on a round plate surrounded with a row of buttered beets and garnished with parsley. Serves 6-8

PORTO RICAN POT ROAST

3 pounds beef rump pot roast
1 small bottle stuffed olives
½ pound salt pork
2 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings
2 cups hot water
1 cup catsup
1 onion
Salt and pepper

Have the bone removed from the meat. Wipe with a damp cloth and cut small slits in the meat at two-inch intervals on both sides of the meat. Stuff slits alternately with olives and inch strips of fat pork. Brown meat in hot fat. Add water, catsup, sliced onion, and season to taste. Cover tightly and simmer gently, allowing 45 minutes per pound. Serves 8

VARIETY TARTS
Pastry.

2½ cups pie mix
4-6 tablespoons ice water

Add water to pie mix small amount at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through the flour and lard until the dough just holds in a ball. Roll on slightly floured board or cloth. Line small pie pans, crimp edges, and prick pastry. Bake in a hot oven (425° F) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Custard.

¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup scalded milk
2 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Make a custard by mixing sugar, flour and salt. Add the hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook until slightly thickened. Add the egg yolks and cook for one minute. Add vanilla. Cool. Pour into cooled tart shells and cover with fruit. A variety of fruits, canned or fresh, may be used, such as bananas, apricots, strawberries, pineapple, rhubarb and cherries. Serves 6.

BISCUIT MIXTURE BANANA BREAD

2 cups Homemade Biscuit Mixture
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup mashed bananas (2 to 3 bananas)

Combine all ingredients and stir until well mixed. Pour into a well greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350° F) for one hour.

STUFFED FRANKFURTERS

1½ pounds large frankfurters
Prepared mustard
½ cup grated American cheese
2 cups mashed potatoes
½ pound bacon
6 slices tomatoes
Buttered crumbs

Let frankfurters stand in boiling water for 7 minutes. Partially split frankfurters lengthwise and spread lightly with mustard. Add cheese to the mashed potatoes and fill the frankfurters with this mixture, using a pastry tube or fork. Place on a broiler rack with bacon and tomatoes which have been sprinkled with buttered crumbs. Set about four inches from the source of heat and broil until bacon is cooked and the potatoes and tomatoes browned. Serves 6.

SPANISH HEART

1 beef heart
2 tablespoons lard
¼ cup hot water
2 cups bread crumbs
1 chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sage
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Melt the fat with hot water, add crumbs, onion and seasonings, and mix thoroughly. Remove arteries, veins and superfluous fat from the heart. Fill with the stuffing and sew together. Sprinkle with salt and dredge lightly with flour. Melt one tablespoon of fat in Dutch oven and brown heart. Add 2 cups water. Cover and simmer slowly 3-5 hours or until tender. Remove to a hot platter as part of the stock is used to make the olive sauce. Serves 6-8.

Olive Sauce.

2 cups stock
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped ripe olives
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion

Bring stock to the boiling point. Mix flour and salt with enough cold water to make a thin paste. Add to stock and boil vigorously until thick, stirring constantly. Add olives, pepper and onion.

Labor Peace Fades as Lewis Plans for Permanent CIO

BITTER FIGHTS PREDICTED FOR RIVAL UNIONS

Intensified Rivalry Looms as CIO Leaders Agree to Draw Up Constitution.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The decision of the CIO to form a permanent organization apparently locked the door today against any reunion with the American Federation of Labor.

The two embattled factions of organized labor, most observers agreed, will prepare now for an intensified rivalry overshadowing all previous struggles.

John L. Lewis, who has guided the Committee for Industrial Organization since its inception in 1935, said his association would adopt a new name, but the initials "CIO" would be retained.

Leaders of the 39 affiliated unions voted yesterday to hold a constitutional convention, probably in September, at a place to be decided later.

Julius Hochman, representing the International Ladies Garment Workers—the largest CIO unit—did not vote, saying his unions executive board would have to decide whether to go along. The garment workers had hinted they might drop out of the CIO if it abandoned efforts to make peace with the AFL.

Lewis refused to reply to a reporter's question on peace prospects, declaring he knew of nothing "of less consequence" than the AFL.

Ressolutions adopted at the conference included appeals for congressional passage of "adequate" relief appropriations, a wage-hour bill, additional housing legislation. A congressional investigation of the maritime commission, together with maritime labor practices, also was requested.

APPLY FOR 'OLD JOBS'

CLEVELAND —(AP)—Hundreds of CIO workers who participated in the 1937 "little steel" strike crowded union headquarters today to make formal application for their "old jobs" with Republic Steel corporation.

The national labor relations board ruled last week that Republic must reinstate strikers and abolish independent employe associations. The board found that Republic had violated the Wagner act in a series of unfair labor practices.

Spokesmen for the steel workers' organizing committee instructed discharged employes last night at meetings held here, at Youngstown and Warren that their applications would be forwarded to Republic by registered mail.

Union leaders have estimated the labor board order would affect approximately 5,000 former Republic employes.

G-Men Scrutinize Threat Note Sent Railroad Official

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—G-men studied two threatening notes today to determine whether the same persons were responsible for attempts to extort $100,000 from W. P. Kenney, 68, railroad president, and $5,000 from William Figge, a brewmaster.

Kenney, head of the Great Northern railroad, was threatened with kidnaping. The note to Figge threatened abduction of his wife. He is employed in the brewery firm operated by William Hamm, jr., who in 1933 paid $100,000 to gain his release from kidnapers.

The Kenney note was delivered a week ago to the railroad's ticket office in Minneapolis and was forwarded to the general offices in St. Paul. Since Kenney was ill at home, it was opened by an assistant who turned it over to federal agents.

Figge's note was delivered three weeks ago through the mails.

EX-LOUDONVILLE RESIDENT DIES

Mrs. Rose Sheka, 50, Stricken In Cuyahoga Falls Home.

LOUDONVILLE — Mrs. Rose Wise Sheka, 50, a former resident of Loudonville, died in Cuyahoga Falls Wednesday. Surviving are her husband, John; her mother, Mrs. Bell Wise of Londonville; four sisters, Mrs. Chloe Reidnour of Mansfield and Mrs. Grace Jarvis, Mrs. Blanch Conrad and Mrs. Helen Hans of Loudonville, and four brothers, Carson, Kirkwood, Carl and Raymond Wise of Loudonville.

Funeral services will be held at the Baptist church here at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. F. H. Twining officiating. Burial will be in the Loudonville cemetery.

Up and Down THE STREET

Arthur H. Woods, public school attendance officer, likes to look down on people. Wait, now, don't get us wrong. He doesn't think he's "too good" for the rest of us. We simply mean that he can be seen nearly every morning, between 7:30 and 8, looking down on Mansfield from the superintendent's office on the eighth floor of the Richland Trust building. He finds it's fun to watch people going to work.

Jane Wilson, one of Mansfield's gals who are on the way up, will be heard on a Fred Waring broadcast at 8 a. m. tomorrow. It's listed as a pajama broadcast because it will be made on board the train bringing the Waring unit from Pittsburg to Cleveland just about the time the musicians are getting up. Waring and a man with a microphone will walk down the aisle of the sleeping car and rout out musicians and singers to do their bits and Jane's voice will be one of those heard. She has been with the Waring band since last fall. The Waring band appears at the Palace in Cleveland for a week, starting tomorrow.

William R. Tingley, 107 Newman street, is 94 years old today and he's celebrating in the way he likes best—a good dinner at noon, a pipe afterward, and a snooze in an easy chair. At the dinner were his daughter, Mrs. Howard Rhodes, with whom he makes his home, her family, and his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Tingley, Olivesburg road. Mr. Tingley was born in Richland county and has lived here all his life. He has resided 48 of those years in his present home.

Chairman of the Relays Citizens committee, Dr. Wygant is concerned over the condition of the track and is on hand daily to check the progress. Although he hasn't got to the point of wearing overalls, he did pull a drag over the oval for a while yesterday.

WIRE STOLEN

Thieves at Ashland Take 7,000 Pounds of Copper.

ASHLAND—Scrap copper wire valued at $450 was stolen from the Ohio Public Service warehouse here early today. The reels contained 7,000 pounds of wire, Erik Nelson of the company stated.

The robbery apparently was committed shortly before 7 a. m., as a cigaret dropped by one of the thieves was still smoldering when company employes arrived at the warehouse today, police said.

A double door on the side of the building was pried open to gain entrance with a truck, according to police.

ASHLAND DEAN SPEAKS FRIDAY

Rev. Ronk to Be Guest Pastor at Mayflower Congregational.

Rev. Willis E. Ronk, dean of the Ashland college Theological Seminary, will be guest pastor at the last of the Holy Week services at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Mayflower Congregational church.

Rev. Ronk will preach on the subject, "The Agony of the Cross." Besides his duties of dean of the seminary, Rev. Ronk teaches Bible in the arts college, and serves as pastor of the Park Street Brethren church in Ashland.

A special song service will be conducted in conjunction with the service by Robert Odson.

GIRL, WITNESS TO GUN BATTLE, KILLED IN 12-STORY PLUNGE

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—The naked body of Norma De Marco, pretty, 22-year-old witness to a Greenwich Village night club gun battle early Tuesday, crashed into an alley early today from the 12th floor of an apartment house.

Police said her death was "suicide unquestionably," and they found nothing immediately to associate it with the holdup at the Howdy club, in which a policeman and three bandits were shot.

James Gibbons, a radio patrolman who shot two of the bandits, credited Miss De Marco with having saved his life. One of Gibbons' comrades and two of the bandits were wounded. Gibbons crouched behind a post for shelter. The third bandit had maneuvered behind him and was perparing to shoot him in the back when Miss De Marco cried out. Gibbons turned and fired; the third bandit got a bullet in his arm and dropped his gun. There was a scuffle and Miss DeMarco was bludgeoned on the head with a pistol butt, presumably by the wounded bandit or one of hs accomplices.

Her head still was bandaged when she plunged from a girl friend's apartment window about midnight.

Her friend, Dorothy La Marr, a hat check girl at the Black Cat, another Greenwich village club, said they had been drinking at several clubs earlier in the night, in company with two young men, and she was trying to get Miss De Marco under a shower when she leaped out the window.

SON FINDS BODY

Nova High Caretaker Ends Life in School by Hanging.

ASHLAND— Charles V. Andrews, 48, caretaker of Nova high school for four years, was found dead by his son early Wednesday evening hanging from the ceiling in the basement of the school building.

Coroner George Emery gave a verdict of suicide, and said that Mr. Andrews had been despondent because of ill health.

Born in Ashland county, Nov. 14, 1889, Mr. Andrews had spent most of his life in Nova. He was a member of the Nova Methodist church and Maccabee lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Sarah; a son, Howard; tw daughters, Bernice and Iola Elizabeth, all at home: two brothers, Cloyd of Akron and Royal of Cuyahoga Falls, and two sisters, Mrs Nellie Sluson and Mrs. Maude Lamphier of Akron.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 7 p. m. Saturday and at the Nova Methodist church at 2:30, with Rev. H. J. Young of West Lafayette and Rev. R. J. Norris of Nova, officiating. Burial will be in the Nova cemetery.

PROBERS WORK ON NEW REPORT

Senate's Graft Hunters to Submit 2nd Summary of Disclosures in Quiz.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The Ohio senate's investigation of alleged graft in the state government ended Feb. 28, but reports of its disclosures promised today to linger on and on.

While little has been heard from the investigating committee since it issued a report early in March alleging corruption in the liquor and highway departments, Sen. Verner E. Metcalf said today that the investigators had been active since then.

A committee meeting was held last week in Cleveland and another is planned in Columbus next week at which the finishing touches will be put on the draft of a second partial report.

Metcalf, Marietta Republican and one of the dominant members of the committee, said numerous partial reports would be required to round out findings and recommendations of the investigators.

"It would be impossible," he said, "to give the public a clear and concise picture of conditions in a single report. Therefore, we plan to issue several partial reports."

Testimony taken in the two and one-half month inquiry covers approximately 1,500 typewritten pages, Metcalf said.

Asked how much time would be covered by the releases on the partial reports, Metcalf said he did not know.

He said that James Metzenbaum of Cleveland, who was counsel for the investigating committee, was helping to prepare the partial reports.

MRS. CROOKS, 65, TAKEN BY DEATH

Springfield Township Resident Victim of Long Illness.

Mrs. Josephine Crooks, 65, of Springfield township, died Wednesday evening at her home following a lingering illness. Mrs. Crooks was born in Huron county, Nov. 1, 1872, but had spent the greater part of her life in this vicinity. She was a member of the Lutheran church.

Surviving are her husband, John D.; a daughter, Mrs. Jason Leppo of Springfield township; a brother, Frank Marlow of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. James Henry of Alta and Mrs. Ellen McClain, Indiana, and two grandsons.

The body is at the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday with Rev. G. E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in Marlow cemetery.

THRIFT PREVENTS BONFIRE

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (U.P.) — A bonfire of wornout automobiles here was called off after used-car dealers laboriously gathered every available, vehicle in town. The cars were sold to Japan for scrap iron.

1,635 FAMILIES, 277 INDIVIDUALS AIDED IN MARCH

More Than Half Total Used to Provide Help for 1,139 Cases in Mansfield.

Richland county spent $23,988 for relief last month to provide food, clothing and fuel for 1,635 families and 277 single persons, according to the monthly report submitted to the city today by Relief Director Earl A. Nist. This is $200 more than was spent in February, the previous high month.

The March expenditures, greatest for any month since the county took over the administration of relief, included expense for Shelby relief clients from March 1 to 15, and the total expenditures for Mansfield and Madison township, half of which will be paid by the county which turned the relief load over to the cities and townships March 15. The city and Madison township will share in the balance of the expense in proportion to their relief load.

Less than one-tenth of the total cost was for administration, according to Nist, who listed salaries of case workers and other administration bills at $2,033.72.

More than half the relief expense, or $14,359, provided assistance for 1,139 cases in Mansfield. Madison township, with 425 cases listed, received $6,568, and Shelby got $793 for its 71 relief families.

Applications Decrease.

A decrease in the applications for relief was shown in March with 225 persons applying as compared with 434 during February. Of this number 159 became active cases.

Relief officials certified 269 applicants to the WPA during March as compared with the 327 in February.

During the past month the administration distributed more than 100,000 pounds of surplus commodities furnished by the Federal Surplus Commodities administration. These included 39,244 pounds of apples, 22,600 pounds of oranges, and 49,000 pounds of potatoes.

Both city council and Madison trustees have voted to petition common pleas court seeking permission to transfer funds to meet anticipated relief costs for the balance of the year. A transfer of $10,000 from the road and bridge fund for Madison township has been approved by the state tax commission and is now awaiting approval of Judge C. H. Huston, while the city of Mansfield is preparing to file a petition seeking the transfer of $50,000 from the sinking fund to the relief fund.

RITES FRIDAY

Blast Victim's Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Harley E. Smith, 37, of 29 Fair street, who died Wednesday of injuries received in a gas explosion two weeks ago, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. S. R. Parrett of the Gospel Center church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

A native of Bucyrus, Mr. Smith was injured when a tank car exploded at the Manfield Asphalt company, where he was employed. The survivors include his wife and four children.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pity 250,000 Germans In Tyrol, For Mussolini Forbids Them to Yodel

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—No sensible person would doubt the sincerity of Chancellor Hitler, but there is something strange about his indifference to the plight of the 250,000 Germans in the conquered Austrian Tyrol, where Mussolini more than a decade ago forbade the native yodel as a subversive expression. The unhappy German yodelers were terribly distressed by this cruel and unusual edict, and some of them daringly continued to yodel in cellars at night in very subdued undertones, but the nervous strain was almost unbearable, nevertheless. A Tyrolean forbidden to use his natural means of expression is like a dog forbidden to bark. Tyroleans tried yodeling to themselves, yodeling in their sleeves and yodeling in their pillows at night, but Mussolini's police seemed to be everywhere, and the captive minority were cruelly harassed.

In fact, of all the German minoritities in other lands the muzzled Tyroleans stand most in need of Anschluss. In Austria, where Hitler recently rescued a minority, the small element of Nazis enjoyed liberties for which Mussolini's captive Germans dare not even yearn.

True, a few were executed some years ago for assassinating Chancellor Dollfuss under orders from the Nazi headquarters in Munich, but that punishment seemed not too severe under the circumstances. If Munich should execute a simular decree on Mussolini, the Italians probably would be equally resentful.

It is even possible that if an Austrian nationalistic society should now invade Berlin and shoot Der Fuehrer, the Reich, too, would take firm steps. Unable to catch the actual assassins or anyone in any way connected with the conspiracy, the Reich probably would select a batch of captive intellectuals out of a prison camp and deputize them to represent the guilty beneath the ax of the elegant Old World headsman who wears a full dress suit and always shows courtesy to each victim before chopping off his head.

Neither the Austrian nor the Czechoslovakian government has ever forbidden the German minorities to yodel, and neither country has faced the necessity of defending its sacred soil from the defiling tread of an invader 3,000 miles away, as Mussolini did in Abyssinia.

* * *

In defending the sacred soil of the Italian homeland against the invader, Mussolini called to the colors many members of Hitler's orphan minority in the captured Tyrol and sent them out to make little ones out of big ones on the Abyssinian roads, not trusting them with muskets because he could not trust their aim. He found early in the campaign that a Tyrolean drawing a bead on an Ethiopian was likely to blow the head off an Italian officer.

The German Tyroleans could not bring themselves to regard Italy as their homeland, and their indifference to the menace of Haile Selassie's legions was a great problem to the Duce.

* * *

The Tyroleans for a time were forbidden to speak German at all so that they would be compelled to learn to speak Italian. They also were forbidden to band themselves into secret political societies.

There are other points on which Der Fuehrer and Il Duce have expressed themselves in writing so strongly that intentional insult is the only meaning that can be read into their remarks. Two years ago, for example, when Mussolini needed war materials more than Christmas trees, he forbade Christmas trees on the ground that they were a pagan device of a pagan people, namely, the Germans. Not long before that Hitler, in exalting the blue-eyed, blond Aryan, wrote with the deepest contempt of swarthy people with short legs, black eyes and beaked noses and added that any Aryan who married such a person was guilty of something.

His description fits many of Mussolini's Italians, however, and in two distinct respects fits their king, who is so stumpy that he needs a ladder to mount his charger and sweeps the world with a regal glare over the elbow of a Roman schnozzle of the aquiline type, so called because it resembles the hooked beak of the eagle.

* * *

Surely these proud conquerors are not going to laugh off such deadly cracks, considering how alert they are to resent quite trival effronts from lesser sources. And it seems incredible that Hitler while he is rescuing his minorities, intends to abandon the muted yodelers of the Tyrol, the piningest minority of them all.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There is going to be a scarcity this year of those admirable little pictures some producers delight in making for the "artistic prestige" they bring.

In any year no picture is made purely for art's sake, but sometimes that consideration weighs about equally with the hope of commercial returns. A producer figures he can get by with something "fine" and, if it flops badly charge it up to "prestige." But in times like these, the prestige-budgets are low. Some of the lots will shoot the works for a combination of prestige-and-box office, but the accent has to be on commerce. That the two can go hand in hand is indicated in last year's "Zola" and "The Good Earth" and in many successful films of other years.

* * *

Pandro S. Berman, newly in charge of RKO's production plant, has undertaken in his time such choice bits as "Of Human Bondage" and "Winterset," both in the nature of artistic gambles. They're the type of thing that as a producer he would prefer to do. Neither lost money, but neither was a big-money picture. But now, in consideration of the times and of the stockholders, he plans to concentrate on the more obviously sure-fire box-office materials. (Having done the Astaire-Rogers things, and other money-grossers, he knows how).

In defense of the "artistic" picture—regardless of how it fares at the public purse—Berman points out the commercial values that frequently ensue. "Of Human Bondage," for instance, while it returned a profit and enhanced RKO prestige, actually made a star of Bette Davis. Unfortunately, from the RKO point of view, the star was created for Warner Bros. from which studio she was borrowed.

* * *

"The Informer," an artistic triumph if ever there was one, built itself slowly into a money-maker, and in the process revived the stellar career of Victor McLaglen, whose services thereafter became more valuable. "They Won't Forget" was not a money picture, and yet—because Claude Rains had a vivid and forceful role—he was discovered anew for parts in subsequent money-makers. The same film unearthed fair film prospects in Gloria Dickson and Lana Turner. And there was "Night Must Fall," without doubt Bob Montgomery's best film and far from his most commercial one.

Shakespeare was responsible for Hollywood's most costly ventures into the "prestige" field. Warner Bros. spent a million and a quarter on "A Midsummer Night's Dream" just hoping to get it back. While as a prestige-builder it was a failure, it finally paid out and made a profit. But aside from that it unearthed the talents of Olivia de Havilland.

"Romeo and Juliet" from Metro may not have been a box-office wonder, but it restored to the movie industry, as a source of future profits, the comedy of John Barrymore.

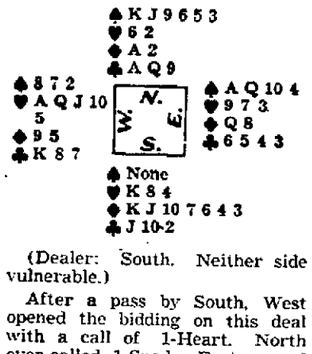
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

EIGHT CARDS SAFE

BIDDING THE same suit three consecutive times usually betokens a six-carder at least. Two cards are all you require to support it, as your side then has eight and the opponents not over five. That is what ordinarily is classed as a safe trump suit. But even half a dozen trumps in your own hand are pretty sad opposite a void unless your suit is solid, for there are seven against you.



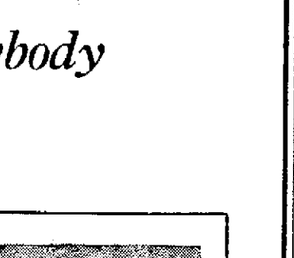
(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

After a pass by South, West opened the bidding on this deal with a call of 1-Heart. North over-called 1-Spade, East passed and South bid 2-Diamonds. When North rebid his spades, South called 3-Diamonds, but North persisted with spades, even though South went to 4-Diamonds, and the contract ended in 4-Spades. Three spades and two hearts had to be given up to the opponents at that contract.

East felt he could safely have doubled 4-Spades, but feared South would go to 5-Diamonds, which as it happens could have been made. North's bidding was bad. His partner's 2-Diamonds bid, after a pass, merely indicated that he did not like spades. The repeated diamond bids indicated his hand was useless to North. North should have heeded this warning and let the 4-Diamond bid stand. Because of the distribution of the adverse diamonds, five could have been made, although the bidding would not have indicated that such would have been the case.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

If South bid 1-No Trump and West doubled, what action would you take in the East position?

A window garden in the breakfast room or kitchen is particularly attractive.

Three or four shelves, just wide enough to hold a flower pot, may be built in the window. Glass bowls of ivy are also excellent decoration.

My Neighbor Says:

For many kinds of fruit and berry stains, soap serves only to set the stain and make it all the more difficult to remove. Pouring boiling water on the stain from a height of three feet usually will remove this kind of stain, if action is taken promptly. The hot water dissolves the stain and the force of the water dropping from a height adds to its effectiveness.

After using part of a bottle of olives preserve the flavor of the rest by adding olive oil, corking tightly and storing in a cool place.

Small paper doilies placed under porcelain plant pots keeps the window sills clean and helps to prevent marks on the paint.

—Advice—

Religion Stands In Their Way

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MISS LEE: I hope you can help me. I am a woman 30 years old, am divorced and have two girls. I have been going with a fellow for over a year. We can never be married as his church doesn't believe in divorce. I love him very much.

"I know another fellow whom I went with over two years ago. He asked me to marry him. I said no and lately he asked me again. He also has two children just the age of mine. His wife is dead. I also knew her. He made her a wonderful home. I care for this man but not like the other one.

"I never had a nice home and if I marry him he would give me what I always wanted. I know he would be good to my girls. I must give him my answer in two weeks. Now, should I marry him? I know it will be hard to forget the other one, but I never can plan on a home with him, and he doesn't work steady, so I would never have the things that I could have with the other. The children like this man who wants to marry me, too. I know he is a good man as I have known him for over eight years. I am afraid if I do marry him I always will be thinking of the one I love, yet I don't want to go and live with him without being married, for I'm afraid of what people will say and I must think of my girls. Don't you think if he really loved me he would marry me anyway? I don't think it would be as much of a sin to marry as it would be to live with him without marriage.

UNDECIDED."

No, it wouldn't be as much of a sin for the man you like best to marry you as it would be for you to live together without marriage. I am very, very sure his church would disapprove of that much more than if he married you, a divorced woman. However, as it is wrong for him to wed a divorced woman, in the eyes of his faith, you should put that out of your mind. He would not be happy with you, as his family and friends would also think it wrong for you two to wed.

It is a great temptation to marry this other man, I know. He would give you a good home for your children and be good to you. You could be a mother to his two motherless little ones, too, and if you were wise, could give happiness to all four children—yours and his. You would have to be wise, however, so as not to favor your children more than his, especially if they disagree. I think you would have your work cut out for you so you wouldn't have much time to think of this other man. It is a thrilling and absorbing life. I think, to make a happy home for a good man and four children.

However, I don't know you, and so I cannot tell if you can marry a man, not loving him, and make a good wife to him, putting all other men out of your life. You will have to answer that one. It wouldn't be fair to marry him if you couldn't, and he wouldn't want you to. You would have to remember, if you did marry this man, that there will be times when you will disagree, and when they come you must be a good sport and not wail and think how much happier you could have been with the other man.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was a silence of several seconds after the woman on the other side of the partition had given her ultimatum to her masculine companion. It was a silence that seemed endless to Mary and me, sitting breathless, waiting to learn what we could of the danger menacing Dicky. The reference of the woman to the "rough stuff," which she had said was the only thing for which she needed the man with whom she was quarreling, had chilled my veins, and, I knew, those of Mary also, with their possible sinister significance.

That the woman's was the more dominant personality of the two, I had guessed from the first, and was sure that the woman also was aware of the weakness of her companion and was playing upon it. But my fingers were clenched deep into my palms—Mary and I had stopped all pretense of eating—as we waited tensely for the man's reply.

When it came it was catipulation—with an attempt at chaffing.

"Aren't you the little hornet though, buzzing around and stinging everything that comes near you?" the man said querulously. "But have it your own way, Sweetie Pie. I've always fallen for you, and I guess I always will."

"You've fallen for what I've been able to hand you, you mean," the woman said coolly—all trace of intoxication gone. "But I'm glad you're seeing reason. Now you listen carefully to me."

"Wait just a second," the man said quickly, and there was a new note of hopefulness in his voice. "If I'm not mistaken, the waiter's bringing you the second round of drinks the Dicky-bird promised you."

Her reply must have astonished him as much as it did Mary and me, listening avidly to the colloquy.

"Then you'll be two up on me," she said, and though there was regret in her voice there was steel as well. "God knows, I need not only one, but two. My throat feels as if it had been through a dust storm out west. But I'm not taking any more, thank you, not today, with you sitting around waiting for me to get gabby enough to spill everything I know. Drink 'em up, Buddy, while I tell you what you're to do."

"Thanks a lot for nothing," the man said with an attempt at sarcasm, which the woman ignored.

"I'm not going to pull anything more for another week at least," she went on. "He's two restive on the bit, needs gentling a bit. And I'm not going to need you until then, except that you're to get ready for your part of the performance — you know what I mean?"

Knows His Part.

"I ought to," the man replied sullenly. "You've quizzed me about it often enough."

"And expect to again," she retorted, "until I'm sure you're letter perfect. I'll see you two days from now at the regular place, and we'll go over some details. Then you be here one week from tonight in your old place. I'll be here, with or without the Dicky-bird, and I'll tell you how far we've progressed."

"It'll be the same old story," he said viciously, "putting off action all the time."

"There'll be action enough to suit ten of you when the time comes," she promised grimly. "And now not another word are you going to get out of me. Finish those drinks and your dinner if you want to, or else clear out and let me eat the rest of this meal in peace."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, April 15.

Peculiar, intriguing and quite unexpected denouements mark this day as a memorable and eventful one, according to the lunar and mutual aspects. There may be sudden developments that may result in a definite change of plans. This may be brought about by a rather mysterious letter that may result in swift decisions and actions.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden moves of rather decisive importance in shaping the future life. A surprising letter, a mysterious document or other writing may bring about a definite change in plans, surroundings and interests.

A child born on this day may have a spectacular career. It may have a romantic and adventurous nature, with much talent and desire for experience and culture in extraordinary fields of expression, perhaps poetry, music or art in modernistic forms.

Fashion experts say that drape suits are definitely "In" . . . but there are still a few die-hard's who will insist on sport backs. For them we have pictured mode-of-the-season herringbone with a sport back. GOLDSMITH'S tell me that gabardine and herringbone are running "neck and neck" in the race for fashion favorite of Spring. Wide stripes and subtle plaids are fighting for a close second. I'm speaking, of course, of suits and topcoats . . . which can be bought in the latest styles at GOLDSMITH'S for as little as $24.75 and $22.50 respectively. Another smart fashion item snooped there today is the gabardine Bush (Bore) coat in gray or tan. A clever sporty-looking jacket with "much pockets and belt" effect for only $8.50. A very swanky affair. (Wish I could wear one) Suede vests for the man who would are obtainable in tan or tobacco brown and are made with a Lastex wool back for only $4.95. Sleeveless sweaters run in price from $1.95 to $4.95 and come in solid colors and herringbone designs . . . all colors. A last minute "spiffy" to tone up your Spring outfit . . . a new tie for $1. They tell me small patterns are best this season. I've been talking mostly of style. I don't think you have to be told that GOLDSMITH'S are proud of their consistently high standards of quality and value.

* * *

Here's good news for last minute shoppers of Easter finery . . . The HOLLY SHOP has reduced its entire stock of new fur-trimmed Spring suits and coats to $9.95. The original value on each is $14.95.

* * *

In a season of suits, see that your suit is smartly different. Choose the new, new Spring accessories on display at REED'S for enviable chic results. Accent your costumes with vivid, colorful jewelry.

You'll find at REED'S new metal, beaded, and enameled types. Also the last word in gloves, hosiery, purses . . . and for a novel touch . . . the "Hollywood Hanky" high colors in hand appliqued linen . . . at REED'S.

* * *

More good news from THE HOLLY SHOP . . . they have made a fortunate special purchase that allows them to offer to you lovely new Easter dresses . . . sparkling prints, gay solid colors . . . yours for only $1.99.

* * *

I really made a "find" at CRAFTON'S today! Regular $1.15 "Lady Myna" silk stockings on sale for 79c. They are slightly irregular, but definitely not "seconds"! Beautiful 3-thread hose in a sparkling irridescent "Sunglo" shade . . . also "Entre-nous" and "Cruise Tan."

WHEAT CROP TO BE 3RD LARGEST

717,000,000 Bushels Foreseen In Present Estimates of Private Experts.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—Private crop experts forecast a 1938 winter wheat yield in the United States of 717,000,000 bushels, the third largest crop in American history.

A crop of such size would be 31,698,000 bushels greater than the 1937 yield and the largest since 1931 when an all-time record crop of 820,553,000 bushels was harvested.

Four of Chicago s five nationally prominent crop forecasters made their reports today. Mrs. E. H Miller, only woman in the field, made an estimate of 692,000,000 bushels last week and the firm of James E Bennett & Co., reported a probable yield of 754,450,000 bushels

Excellent growing weather since Jan. 1, with present crop condition reported from two weeks to a month ahead of schedule throughout much of the witer wheat territory has induced recent heavy selling, particularly in the past ten days on the Chicago board of trade

The price of new crop wheat, represented by July and September futures on the grain exchange, today opened below 80 cents a bushel, the first time since 1935 that any wheat future has sold below 80 cents. In April, 1937, July Futures were quoted at $1.28⅛ and September wheat at $1.24⅛.

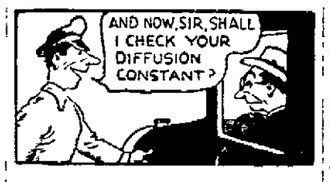
It's Odd

But It's Science.

AKRON —(AP)— The diffusion constant explains why a tire has to be filled more often in summer than in winter. This constant is the rate at which air leaks through rubber.



W. F. Busse, of the physical research laboratory of the B. F. Goodrich company, says that in temperatures below freezing an average tube will lose 18 cubic inches in 24 hours by this form of leakage. At temperatures from 30 to 86, the loss is six times as great. Above 100 degrees the loss runs about 16 times higher than for freezing.

There is no effective remedy for diffusion. Even a solid metal tube would lose a little by diffusion. Not enough to be noticed, but to illustrate the difficulty of stopping this kind of loss.

Because of diffusion, air that has been in a tire a long time really is bad air. Oxygen diffuses out three times faster than nitrogen. As air is 99 per cent oxygen and nitrogen, the oxygen gets very low when tires are not pumped up often enough.

It still remains a great mystery whether the rungs of a ladder are intended to separate the sides or hold them together.

PIGS AND HOGS HARASS ISLAND

Fiji Find Roving Bands Menace Coconut Crops.

SUVA, Fiji—(AP)—Pigs and dogs are fighting it out on several islands of the Fiji group, with white settlers the chief victims.

On Taveuni and Vanua Levu the wild pigs eat the commercial coconut crop, uproot young trees and keep the settlers busy trying to exterminate them.

Settlers on these islands favor breeding a race of wild dogs to keep the pigs down, but from Vita Levu comes warning that this merely creates another problem. There, roving bands of wild dogs are extremely troublesome.

The Northwest Ordinance

The First Settlers Come To Ohio Under Provisions Of Northwest Ordinance

"Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to the good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged"

EDITORS NOTE—This is the second of a series of nine articles on the Northwest Ordinance, the great document under which Ohio and other states were settled The sesqui-centennial of the signing of the ordinance and the settling of the territory is now being observed, and a caravan, retracing the route of the original pioneers, will be in Mansfield on May 2 John Connell, author of this article, is a history instructor at Hedges Junior high school

By JOHN CORRELL

Less than five months after the Northwest Ordinance was passed, members of the Ohio Company left Ipswich, Mass They were headed for the Ohio country, "Putnam's Paradise" as New Englanders called the Ohio Purchase.

They traveled by oxteam and covered wagon later they would use flatboats and galley to reach their destination

On April 7, 1788 150 years ago, they came to the juncture of the Ohio and Muskingum rivers There they founded Marietta, and that occasion was made happy by the reception which those hardy pioneers received from Captain Pipe, a great chief of the Delawares, and 70 Indians who were encamped there to trade peltries

Arthur St Clan, dignified and scholarly, arrived a little later; and he established the first civil government west of the thirteen colonies on July 15, 1788 The settlement of the Northwest Territory had begun

Ohio Settlement Begins

After the Indian troubles were disposed of through the military successes of "Mad Anthony" Wayne in 1794-95, the settlers poured into the fresh and verdant valleys of Ohio They came from every section of the eastern seaboard

From New England came Yankees who were weary of tilling barren soil They settled along the shores of Lake Erie in the "Western Reserve" country

Enterprising Germans came from Pennsylvania They knew land and how to farm it, and they found Ohio to their liking

Englishmen came, and so did the Irish and the Scotch-Irish These came from Virginia and farther south They were seeking land for speculative purposes But they found Ohio good and remained to make their homes

From Kentucky and Tennessee came hardy pioneers who knew the frontier and how to develop it. All of these various types merged in Ohio our first American melting pot

Submerge Differences.

Faced with common problems, and operating under an enlightened set of government provisions, these pioneers submerged their differences of temperament, customs, traditions and beliefs The divergent cultures of the original states were forgotten in the identity of common interests, and there emerged in the Northwest Territory our 'first American civilization"

In this immense domain there sprang up a civilization without caste, class, or privilege Everyone had about the same amount of this worlds goods They all derived their livelihood from one sourse the labor of their own hands acting on the soil

These experiences produced a people with marked characteristics and set them off with a personality as individual as that of New England or of the south They all had a spirit of adventurous enterprise and were willing to go through any hardship to gain an object Independent in thought and action, they enjoyed the greatest freedom of any people in the world. Simple in manner, at times wanting reserve, quick to make acquaintances, eager to help stranger or neighbor alike, they became our first Americans These pioneer settlers of the Northwest were the product of the levelling forces of small possessions; hardships; equal opportunity and of unremitting labor in forest and field

Their Rights Secure.

In addition, and perhaps more important, they were what they were because of their type of government; they had free speech and assemblage; they could worship as they saw fit, their children had educational equality and opportunity; they were protected by law, the majority ruled, and the minority had the privilege of stating its stand; all of these rights had been demanded and secured by them

These people, developing the common characteristic of equality, independence, energy and enterprise, found a raw wilderness and turned it into the industrial and political heart of the nation that it is today. From the Northwest Territory five states and part of another have been formed. With an area of less than one-twelfth of our total, this region supports a population of 26,000,000, almost one-fifth of our total population.

From within its boundaries have come presidents, great educators, outstanding ministers, famous writers and men of science, and leaders of the industrial and commercial world.

Truly we of the modern day have received a precious heritage from those early soldier-settlers, perhaps from the review of their accomplishments we may be inspired to a fresh and successful attack on our present day problems

The Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

Thursday, April 14. "Nevertheless not what I will, but what thou wilt." Read Mark 14:32-42.

Friederich Nietzsche, that implacable critic of so much of our modern Christianity, coined the phrase "human-all-too-human" He also conceded that though there was only one Christian, there was one and he died on a cross.

We may be grateful that in the record of the life of this "one Christian" there are certain passages which are "human-all-too-human. They persuade us that the story is not a pious fiction. The cry of dereliction from the cross and the agony in the garden bear the marks of their own truthfulness

Cardinal Newman tells us that religion knows two realities, and two only, God and our own soul. There are times when the whole social interpretation of the Christian life falls away, and is impotent to interpret or to redeem our loneliness "Alone he goes, and none can go for him who goes, unto the land which no one knows." It has been said that beyond the Garden of Gethsemane human experience cannot go. It can, however, come that far, and when it brings us there, we are entitled to help from the remembrance that Jesus of Nazareth knew its solitary hours.

Prayer: When the flesh is weak and eyes are heavy, then restore to us, O God, wakefulness and strength of soul to share with Christ his vigil: through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

New Household Deodorant Prevents Everyday Bathroom Embarrassment

Keep a can of A. V. A. where everyone can use it after using the toilet. Poured into toilet or small bowl of water, A. V. A. effervesces and actively destroys embarrassing odors—pleasantly purifies the air.

Get a can of A V. A. Use it wherever bad odors offend—in bathroom, sickroom, nursery, or kitchen.

You will find it a real help toward more comfortable living
